How will this past year be remembered? When you see someone at a party or on the beach over the summer, what will you mention or think about? Probably all of the good times, some of the not-so-good and the people you had them with. Wherever you go, whatever you do, you'll always remember Harbor High and all the others who were "just passin' through," and there's nothing you can do about it. So it is with some degree of sincerity that the theme of our yearbook be "Fun with Friends," in the hopes that you will look back and laugh, not at the school, but with it, and the year 1977. It was a very good year.

SEASIDE

Besides the usual academic routine, student life at Harbor includes a colorful conglomeration of rousing lunch time concerts, dramatic and musical productions featuring the harbor area's most promising young performers, the equestrian antics of the donkey basketball game, and the insanity of Spirit and United Fund Weeks. And all the rowdy, foot stomping pep rallies play a prominent role in student pacification, along with those student loved, police dreaded car rallies. The after-the-game and semi formal dances add many more memorable moments to the year's activities. And then comes the Prom, when the closest of friends get together for the highlight of the social year. All in all, students have been kept pretty busy being entertained and providing their own entertainment, and here are those moments relived, for you, and for your friends.

The brassy tunes of Chicago echo over the dance floor as new suits and homemade flowing gowns sway to the music. Between dances, boogiers wait in line for pictures or sip drinks among the trees and bushes in the South Coast Plaza Jewel Court. Then the music grows mellow along with everyone else for the final waltz, as heads on partner's shoulders become the rule. Then the band, Liberty 4, gets down to the last number, and homecoming '76 rocks to a close.

WINTER DANCE

"Stairway to Heaven" was the theme as you and your date climbed your way to the 1976-77 Winter Dance. Atop that seaside paradise, you danced the night away aboard the luxurious Queen Mary. Serenaded by the popular Kings Road Band, couples danced their hearts out. Put on again this year by the expanding club called Girl's League, the dance, to many, was a huge success. Unlike last year, Girl's League decided not to have a Winter Dance King and princess. Although this was missing, the dance was, as usual, a night for good times and good memories.

SONG & CHEER

Through the years, even High School and College has had spirit and support for their students. None of this support would have been able without the dedication of the school's song and cheerleaders. This year's NHHS squads have been absolutely fantastic in raising school spirit. In the past, Harbor has failed to give them the recognition they deserve. The average girl in a squad puts in about 18 hrs. a day into school and its activities. Without them the school would be just another school, without spirit or a backbone. Now's the time to say thanks to the 1976-77 song and cheer.

SAILOR SPIRIT

Another Newport Harbor game, and the streets and lots are full of double parked cars. The students and parents have piled into the bleachers, eager to see another contest for the pride of NH teams. The band plays fight songs that can be heard on the peninsula, charging the air with excitement. Varsity Cheer leads and the students follow in well known cheers, shouting and willing our team to victory, and in between the chanting, the student body does very well on their own, screaming, stomping, running around, raising in general. And when the Tars win, then we get rowdy and all Orange County knows the outcome of the game before morning.

AQUASHOW

Like always, this year's Aqua Show was a huge success. Put on by the G.P.E. Department, girls of all four grades work to finish their routines and get them perfected by the opening night performance. Some of the shows were done to the music of Hello Dolly, and Gone with the Wind. The final act of this fabulous show was a tribute to the music of none other than Nadia's Theme.

DAZZLED DODGEON

Once again the Girls Physical Education Department has produced a quality entertainment event. Songs like Disco Duck filled the Boys Gym as girls from all grades danced their original routines. Under the instruction of the gifted and talented Girls' PE teachers, the girls displayed their abilities to dance.

A variety of dance forms were displayed from disco to waltz, and from boogie to Charleston. The tunes and dances lightened the spirit of the usually gloomy month of January.

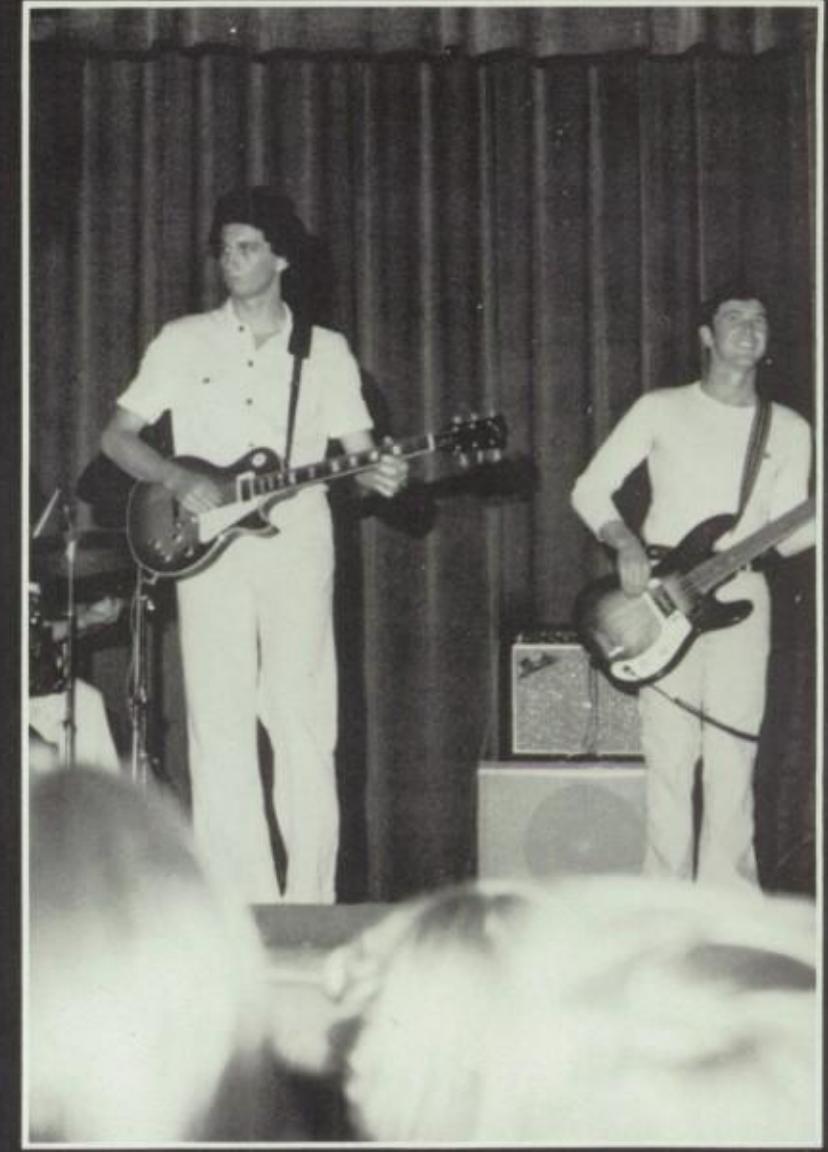

1. Disco Duck! 2. Fellow dancers rock out! 3. Lisa Fonier shows off her fantastic dancing ability. 4. Kick and smile and two and three.

TARS & STARS

A bevy of inspiring talents performed in this year's annual Tars and Stars. Energetic performances including the antics of Mike Tupy impersonating superstar Elvis Presley and Dana Van Diver, Delicia Sampson, Teri Fekie, Leslie Rucker, Blair Crust, and Laurie Ritchey portraying the six merry murderesses of the "Cellblock Tango" packed the auditorium with enthusiastic audiences both nights. Other highlights were an original band, "Mythology," the "Mannequin Mime," "The God Spelled Duo," and several other musical and dramatic performances. Mark Rucker and Dana Van Diver hosted the show whose proceeds will contribute to paying the cost of the Prom.

GOD'S FAVORITE

The Drama Department started the year off well with their first production, "God's Favorite." It was played with "Play it Again, Sam." It was a hilarious parody of the biblical story of Job, the apple of God's eye, only put in a modern setting. The act only ran 3 days, October 21, 29 and a matinee on the 30th. It starred Blake Schroeder, and Seth Siegel, as God's favorite and God's messenger, respectively. Other parts were played by Terre Felde, Jim Graim, Doug Hall, Dana Dubrow, Blair Gust and Randy Cross.

1. Blake Schroeder bemoaning the loss of his house. 3. A defiant Blair Gust.

PLAY IT AGAIN SAM

Along with "God's Favorite," "Play it Again, Sam" was fantastically produced. This 3 act play ran three successful nights, October 23, 28 and 30th. This, the drama department's 2nd production was about a shy man helped by the spirit of Bogie. Starring in "Play it Again, Sam" were Mark Rucker, Mark Whitehead, and Dana Van Diver. Supporting roles were played by John Tovian and Dana Schirmer.

ROCKAWAY

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU

A bizarre family and their unusual activities was portrayed excellently by the seniors starring in the Senior Class Play "You Can't Take It With You." The production was held in the auditorium running two successful nights, February 25 and 26. The play, student directed and produced, displayed the talents of Senior Mark Rucker, assisted by Julie Bernatz and Carolyn Sauer.

Seniors Mike Tupy, Dana Van Diver, Blake Schroeder and Laurie Ritchey all took major roles along with Seniors Gordy Grundy, Bob Schmidt, Dana Schirmer, Andy Simkins, Peter Shelton, Mark Ruder, Terrilyn Kelly, Mark A. Smith, Raun Thorp and Kathy Dupuy. The profiting funds from the production were to be used to help offset the cost of the Senior Gift.

"Falables," a modernized rock musical version of Aesop's fables premiered on December 8. Opening a three day run in Room 120, "Falables" was also performed on December 10 and 11.

The production was entirely student produced. Junior Mark Whitehead directed.

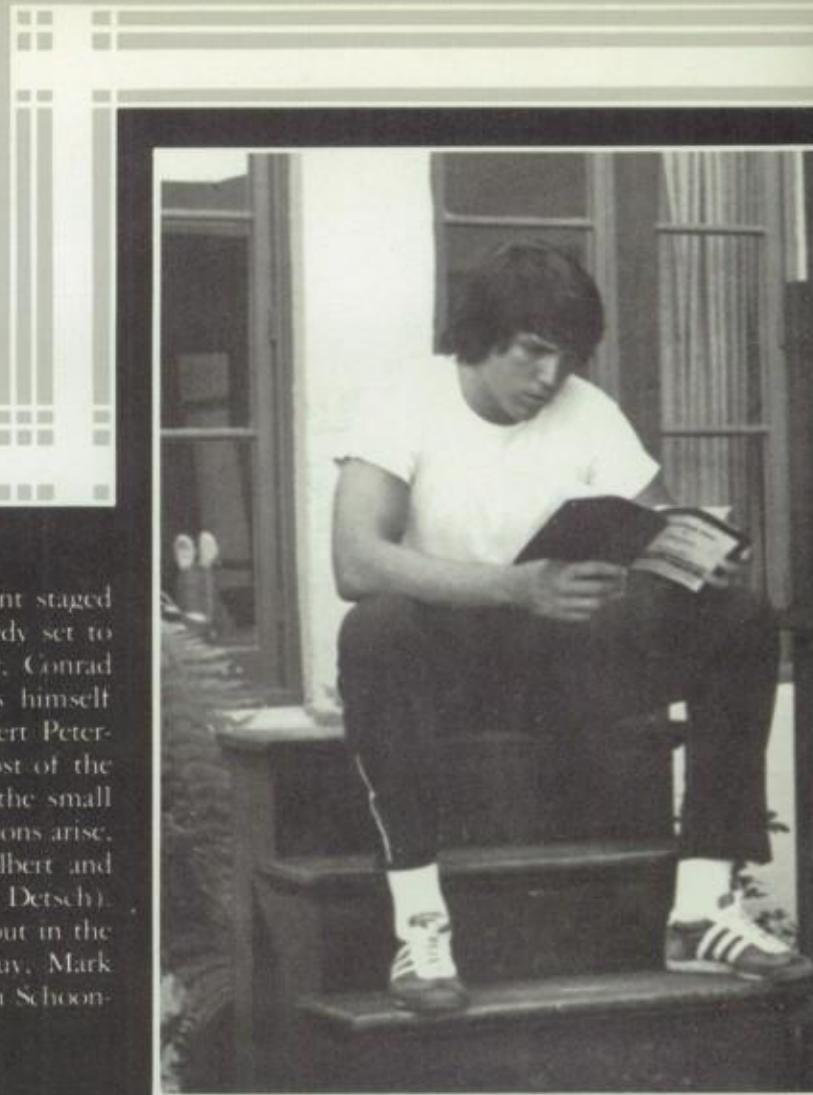

Sophomore Doug Hall as Wilfred M. Wolf; Sophomore Dana Dubrow as Jack in the Box; Dana Schirmer as Mod Mouse, Teri Felde as Amilia the Eagle, Tracy Schutt as Chloressa the Crow and Randy Cross as Horace T. Hare. Also included in the cast were Ann Detsch, Terrilyn Kelly, Kathy Dupuy, Amanda Normington, Seth Siegel, Arlyn "Shirmy" Schirmer and Richard Riley.

May 12, 13 and 14 the Drama Department staged the musical "Bye Bye Birdie." This comedy set to music is the story of a 1950's rock star, Conrad Birdie, (Jeff Bibet) who suddenly finds himself drafted. His hypocondriatic manager Albert Peterson (Mark Rucker) tries to make the most of the publicity by staging "One Last Kiss" in the small town of Sweet Apple, Ohio, but complications arise, especially love complications between Albert and his secretary Rosie (Dana Van Diver, Ann Detsch). But as in all musicals, everything works out in the end. The cast also includes Kathy Dupuy, Mark Whitehead, Seth Siegal, Terre Felde, Lynn Schoonover and Jeff O'Dell.

Newport Harbor drama groups participated in a varied array of drama festivals and speech competitions this year. A scene is picked by each school and presented at the festival for judging by professional and semi-professional actors. Harbor did well in most all the festivals they attended. In the one act festival Harbor presented a short scene in the 1960's, "Kennedy's Children." In the Fall festival at Cal State Domingo Hills, in which 70 schools competed, six NH scenes made it to the semi-finals and two of those advanced to the finals.

FESTIVALS

CAMPUS LIFE

Long after one graduates, you'll probably forget some of those activities that went on at school. It would be impossible to fit all of the school's activities into two short pages but we picked some of the more dominant ones of this year. Others may have included rallies, football games, sucker sales, receiving a carnation from an admirer, toilet papering our rival, CDM, anything goes, snowball fights, Donkey Basketball, halloween costumes, lunch bands, United Fund Week, Spirit Week, Chop-a-thons, Kris Kringle and just plain raisin'!

of many who participated in Tars and Stars.

OFF CAMPUS

2:35 — the school awakens from its 6 hour sleep and suddenly the quad is filled with people. Students go to their lockers and collect or get rid of their books and start heading off. They branch out towards the bus, the bike racks and the parking lots, all leaving Harbor and going away. But where do they go from here? Do they hibernate until 7:30 the next morning? Of course not. Some have jobs, some have homework and most have fun. Candystriping, busboys, fastfood outlets, movies, bowling, skiing, sailing, jogging, partying, homework, going to the beach, racing and many others. Here are just a few examples of what students do after school's out. Look familiar?

1976-7 had its points of interest in the history of the world, nation and community, just as other years have. '76 was an election year, and Dem. Jimmy Carter, that good ol' boy from Plains, Ga., became our 39th president. With his success came his fireside manner, his smile, peanut jokes and his family, including his beer drinking brother Billy. Gerald Ford packed up and quietly moved to Palm Springs. '77 was the year of the worst plane disaster on record. At least 577 people died when a 747 collided with another on the ground while taking off at Tenerife in the Canary Islands. Here at Harbor High, students were treated to a half day schedule in March when the NH teachers went on strike for a day. Though threatening to last a week or more, it endured only one day, soon after which an agreement was reached. Shortly after this, the students were again treated to a shortened schedule as a disaster drill simulated the boiler exploding in Robins Hall with dozens of casualties including the Death of Principal Jacobson. Volunteer students were made up as the victims, while police and paramedic units as well as local hospitals tested their coordination and emergency procedures. The Eastern U.S. was iced up in one of the worst winters in history. Major rivers were bottled up and entire cities were stopped as cars were lost under the drifts. Over 100 people died due to the severe cold, snow and resultant problems. On the West Coast, however, we were experiencing a drought in the Sacramento Valley from an almost non-existent rainfall for '76-7 season. Although many areas resorted to rationing, Orange County and most of Southern Calif. were not directly affected by the drought.

It seems that fads are part of American Society. The faster we can make an idea obsolete, the better so new things are being invented everyday, and the students at Harbor buy them up as fast as they are produced. This year we have a great variety from which to choose. It appears that mo-peds, rugby shirts, boots, gauchos and CB radios lead the way. Next year we'll probably have a whole new set of fads and a gullible student body to put them on exhibit at Newport Harbor High.

SUMMER FIELD STUDIES

Described by all as one of, if not the most memorable experience during Newport Harbor, Summer Field Studies, taught by the NH science department, is open to seniors and juniors, at NH, CDM and other nearby schools. For six weeks during summer school, students learn how to backpack, plan their trips and become prepared for the sierras. The groups under 20 people set out for eight day journeys into a unique world of awesome splendor and breathtaking majesty, of silent delicacy and intimate beauty. For more than a week, a score of new found friends cook, camp, and walk more than sixty miles together, and in the bus home, the hardest part of the trip, laugh and plan to go on it again next year.

For the week of February 20-26 about 40 NH students participated in a different kind of learning experience, in a different kind of classroom. Yosemite Institute, in Yosemite National Park, provided the opportunity and then let the students learn and perceive basically on their own. Perhaps sitting quietly in a meadow in the valley floor, or watching an occasional bird fly through the cedars past the backdrop of the granite face of Half Dome. In the relaxed and casual setting, students found themselves learning about the Indian and White history of the valley, the geological past, present and future, the flora and fauna, and they learned about themselves. Yosemite Institute was a time for meeting new friends and being with old and seeing yourself from a entirely new perspective in a new atmosphere.

DISCOVER AMERICA

From Williamsburg to Boston the 35 students who participated in the 1977 Discover America tour, discovered more than just America. They discovered new friends, great times, cafeterias, famous people, many discovered more about themselves. Chaperoned by Mr. Dennis O'Hern, Mr. Grant Ball, and Mr. Ball's daughter Nikki — the fearless leaders of the perpetually energetic tour participants — the students toured the East Coast from March 31 until April 12. Stops were made in Williamsburg, Washington D.C., the Amish Country, Philadelphia, Rhode Island, New York, and Boston. Highlights included visiting the Congress building, seeing Anwar Sadat, an excellent tour of the State Department, the Smithsonian Institute, U.S. Constitution, the craftshops of Williamsburg, a Broadway Production of the Wiz in New York, Independence Hall, and just general hell-raising which often made getting up in the morning difficult. But all would agree, it was definitely worth it.

7:30, November 9th in the boys' gym, students, parents, friends and neighbors rounded up laughter as the first annual Donkey Basketball game got underway. It was the students vs. the faculty as ten Jackasses at a time were all over the court, trying to get the basketball as well as staying on their donkeys. Student players had to sell as many tickets as possible, and top sellers were the making of the final team. The donkeys were anything but cooperative and made it impossible for the teams to play. Substitutions were made so the audience could laugh at more of their friends and teachers lurching around the courts or wrestling their donkeys under the baskets.

A kaleidoscope of musical and dramatic acts performed by the choral classes and Drama Production students, and two groups of guitar students combined to create a successful Annual Pops Scholarship Concert. The performance was created on January 21 in the auditorium.

The Pops Concert was directed by Mrs. Van Fleet and featured such scenes as from the musicals, "My Fair Lady," "Fiddler on the Roof," "West Side Story," "South Pacific," "The Fantastiks" and "The Appletree." The Swing Choir performed "Time in a Bottle" and the Chantelles sang Joni Mitchell's "Circle Game" and "As Long as He Needs Me."

The Concert starred Kathy Dupuy, Bob Williams, Steve Dillon, Tracy Schutt, Jim Graham, Kathrine Prichard, and Richard Wink.

Once again, Mr. England and Mr. Owens have produced a fantastic year of concerts and band performances. With bands like orchestra, pep band, midshipmen and stage band, they have put together a terrific creation.

Mr. England has always churned out a perfect show and this year with the assistance of Mr. Owens the performance was a hit.

SEASIDE PARADE

Practicing first and second periods, this year's Newport Harbor High School Marching Band has once again come through with flying colors. Led by the superb supervision of Mr. Richard England, the NHHS parade faculty is highly honored. Assisted by Cindy Collins, the Drill Team, Flag Twirlers, Anchorettes and ID Squad display more of Harbor's unique talents. Marching for hours on end, our NHHS parade staff just shows what a little hard work can do. All departments of the bands, and auxiliary have always been highly awarded in all competitions.

The flashy style of this year's Drill team kept the Spirit of Harbor throughout the year. 6. Majorettes Erin England and Cindy Dostal led the band down the Parade.

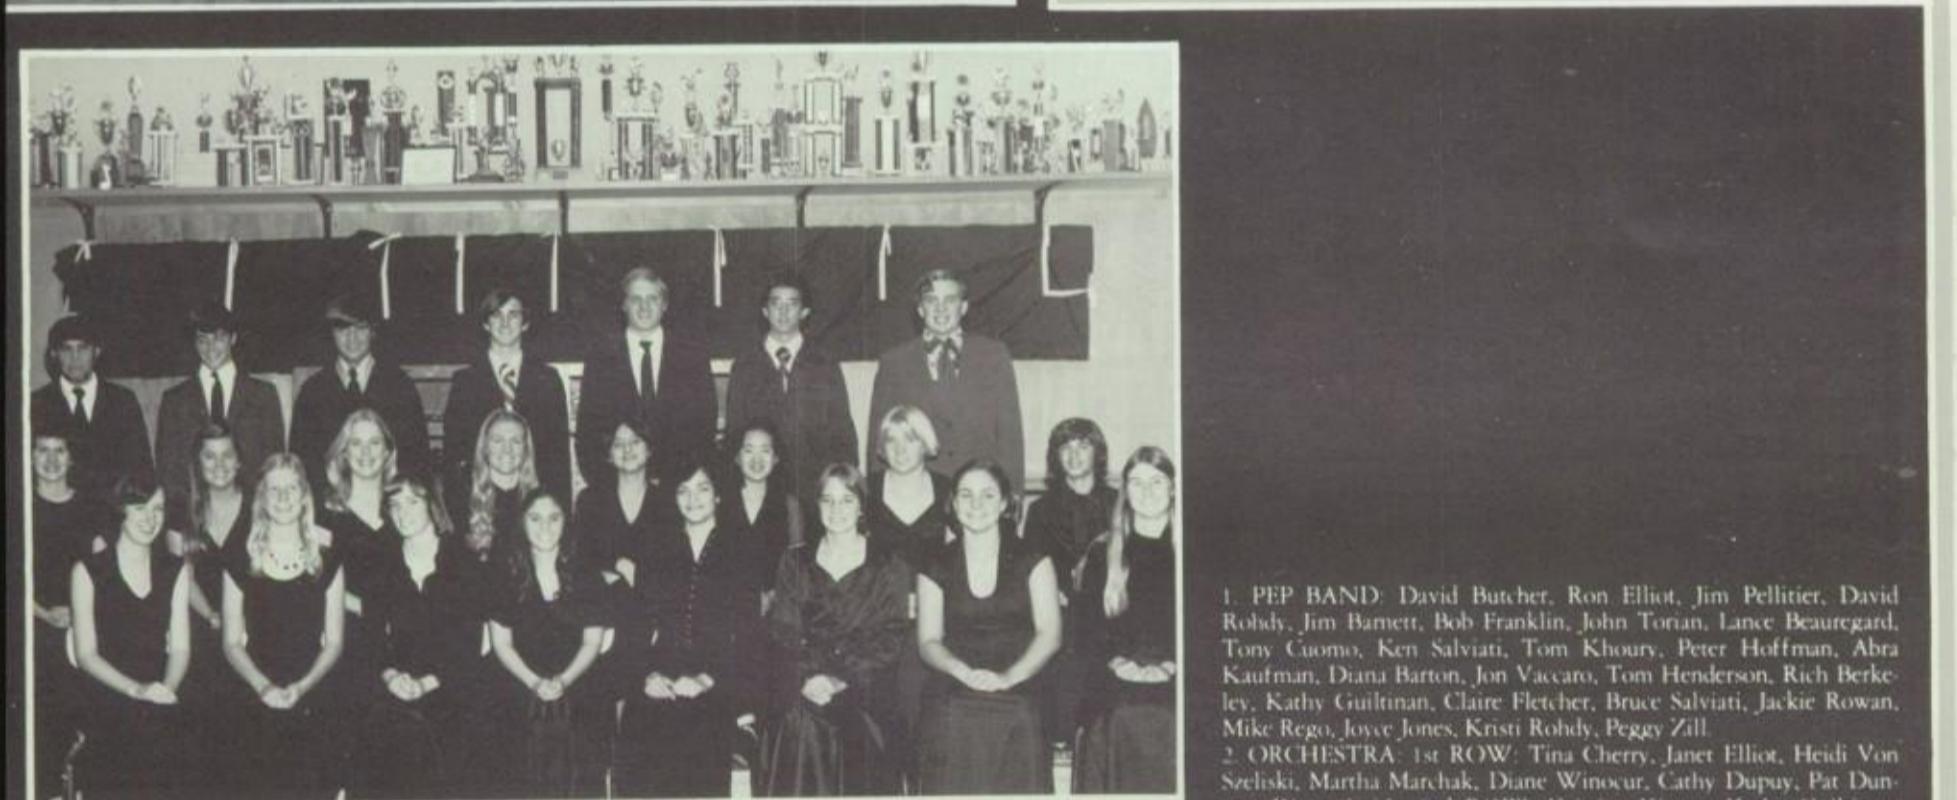

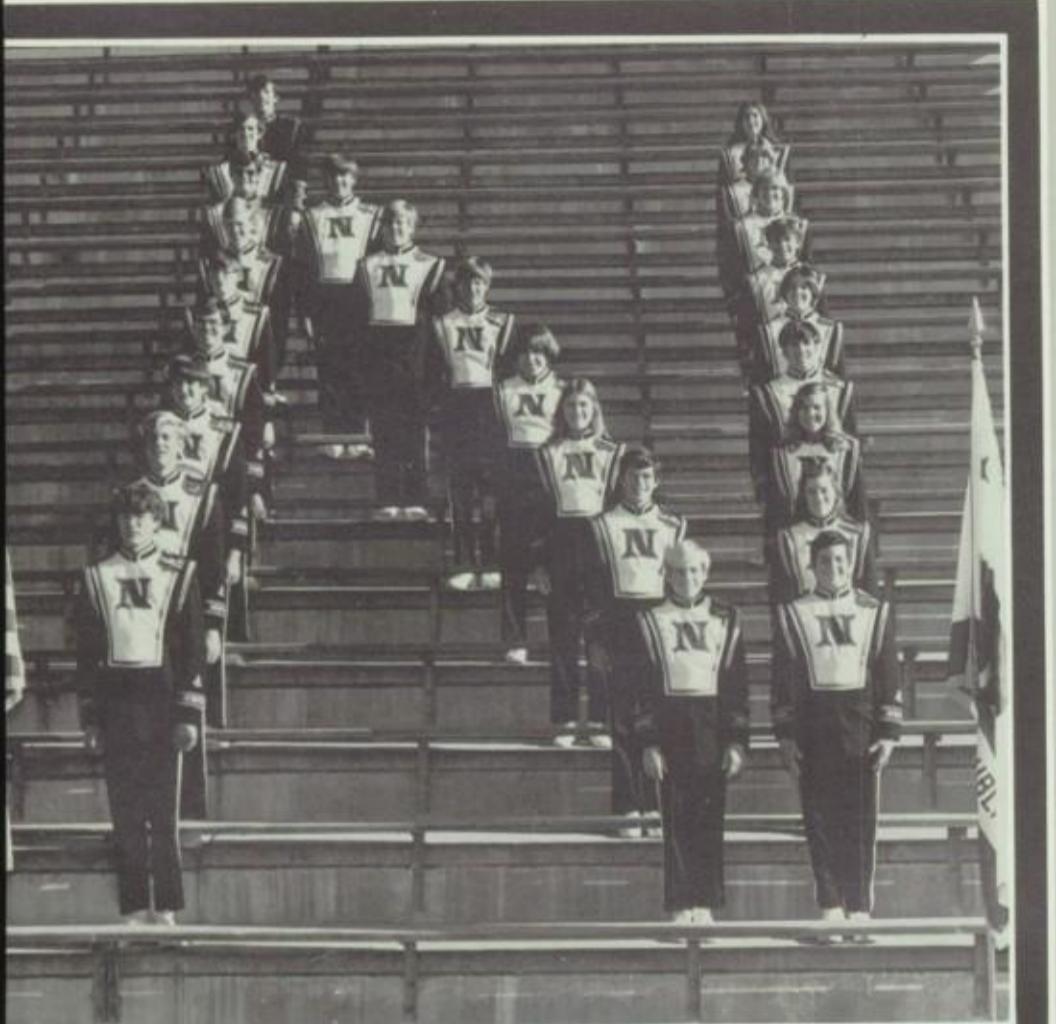

Harbor's bands have always been a dominating figure of the school and we're very proud to have them. The Marching Band has always been one of the best in the state and wins high awards in all the competitions they enter. The Pep Band did show a lot of pep this year and jazzed up every Basketball Half-time and rally. The orchestra played beautifully at all the concerts and performances. Midshipmen did another fantastic job, as always. The Marching Band paraded in the Annual Lobster Bake parade and went around to Newport District elementary and Jr. Hi schools and got younger students looking forward to one day joining that big high school band. Orchestra also went to nearby schools to perform and gave excellent displays in every event. All bands are under the direction of Mr. England, who also has done a fine job this year.

DRILL TEAM

Under the direction of Cindy Collins, this year's NHHS Drill Team has produced once again a high quality marching group. With hours of hard work and dedication these girls have brightened up football games, parades, and spirit at rallies and games. Looking around the campus you can easily pick out the drill team members by their hospitality, charm and uniforms. Making posters, cookies, sending carnations are just a few of the other morale boosting activities that they do. Each and every year, drill team has always placed high in all competitions and this year followed the preceding years in keeping the quality and status of drill team high. Their outstanding effort has kept a shining star lit for many, many years at Newport Harbor High.

AUXILIARY

This year, the NHHS Auxiliary performed without reproach. The Anchorettes, Flag Twirlers and I.D. Squad, under the guidance of Cindy Collins, were at all the major sporting and school relating events offering their particular brand of spirit raising fun.

Each summer the auxiliary attends a three day camp where they learn new routines and styles from well known teachers. In March, both the ID Squad and Anchorettes participated in the state competition. Last year's Flag Twirlers took 1st place honors in this parade.

THE SINGERS

Concerts, organizations, trips, district schools, are just a few of this year's music groups' duties. Choralle, Chantelles and the new Swing Choir did a fantastic job in all events and proudly represented the vocal ability of Harbor High students. Under the direction of Mrs. Van Fleet, the choir groups were always fun along with much hard work. There were many hours after school spent perfecting those songs for the concert or play they would soon perform. This year's new swing choir has added yet another great advantage to NHHS.

This year's Drama department managed to continue producing a high standard of theatre and art and a high standard of insanity. The members of the Thespian Society are those devoted actors and actresses who have participated in every phase of play production. This year their officers include Mark Rucker, Dana Van Diver, Leslie Rucker, Terry Felde and Delicia Sampson, (a rather motley crew, n'est ce pas?)

Under the inspired direction of Joe Swift the actors, actresses and stage crew of Newport Harbor produced many plays ranging from "rolling-in-the-aisle" humor to more serious and sobering subjects.

CLUBS & ORGANIZATIONS

If several students have the same interests or purpose to achieve, and can blackmail a teacher into becoming their sponsor, a club is formed to accommodate them. There are the traditional Math and Science club, the Song and Cheer squads and Pep clubs, and the International club, a combination of the smaller separate foreign language clubs of past years. But there are also the special interest groups, some of which were formed just this year, such as the chess, computer science and military clubs. Besides these there are several groups whose purpose is to publish various propaganda, such as the Beacon, Flotsam and Jetsam, and those over-worked and under-paid, but all-too-modest members of the Galleon staff. Most all of the clubs hold fund raising events, such as the car rallies, sucker sales and raffles which make up a part of life at Harbor.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM

Flotsam and Jetsam is Harbor's literary magazine. All students can submit poetry, prose, and artwork. Their names are not on the work, as they are carefully considered by the whole staff. The best ones are selected and put in the magazine. The staff must work on a layout and provide illustrations for the appropriate poems and prose. After getting the magazine printed by a local printer, the staff is responsible for the sales of Flotsam and Jetsam, which takes place the last couple of weeks of school.

Film Society

Despite the fact that this year's Film Festival was cancelled due to auditorium repairs, the Georges Méliès Film Society remained undaunted. They did manage to screen one movie before the auditorium's chairs were torn from their sockets. The film Monty Python's, "And Now For Something Completely Different," helped to bolster their account, provide the necessary funds to acquire next year's films, and left enough for field trips to assorted movie studios in and around Hollywood.

1. Mr. McGinnis, Carolyn Sauer, Mark Rucker, Dave Goodsell, Richard Heryford, Julie Bernatz. 2. One of the better movies this year was "All The President's Men." 3. Mark Rucker diligently reading the movie reviews.

Girls' League

Girls' League, led by their fearless president, Kristy Kirkpatrick, sponsored the annual Winter Dance, which was held at the Queen Mary. Again, members honored a king at the dance. The dance turned out to be an especially super event because of the girls careful planning, decorating, and baking of goodies. Besides the dance, Girls' League put on many candy and bake sales especially around Halloween and Christmas. In spring, the girls participated in a fashion show wearing clothes of their own choice from a nearby store.

Pep Club

Supporting the sports teams and displaying their spirit for N.H. is Pep Club's main concern. Pep Club members spent the year making and selling infinite amounts of goodies and candy, as well as selling buttons and ribbons to support themselves. They also were in charge of decorating the campus with all those rowdy posters. One of the biggest clubs, Pep Club members have a chance at the end of the year to try out for Song and Cheerleading. Pep Club makes it possible for these girls to display their talent and enthusiasm while enriching the school with their undying spirit.

AFS

The Newport Harbor AFS Club, composed of interested Harbor students, the Americans Abroad finalists, and the foreign exchange students, raised money through a variety of activities this year. Candy and nut sales were two of the major fund raising activities. The main purpose of AFS is to further the communication and understanding between youths of all nations.

If you ever want to see all the academic-minded intellectuals at Harbor gathered in one place, drop in on a CSF meeting. CSF, or California Scholastic Federation, is composed of students who must have at least four subjects, three of them academic. To qualify for CSF, a student must have A's in one non-academic course and at least in two academic courses. To qualify as a seal-bearer, a student must have been a CSF member for four of six possible semesters which must include at least one semester of the senior year. Besides concentrating on grades, CSF members also participate in the annual CSF night at Disneyland. This year's members also attended "A Chorus Line." The individual shots below are this year's seal bearers.

Ski Club

The Ski Club, one of the more popular clubs on the N.H. campus, thrilled those lucky and ski-fanatical members by providing a few ski trips to nearby and distant locations. After a few disappointing cancellations because of the drought, the members were finally able to release their pent-up energy at popular and exciting ski resorts. Included in the itinerary were trips to Mammoth, and the all-time favorite, Easter vacation special, excursion to beautiful Utah. The skiers enjoyed the slopes at Alta, Brighton, Park City, and Snowbird, as well as the parties at Alta, Brighton, Park City, and Snowbird.

1. Newport's Ski Club consists of bunnies, hot doggers, shush boomers, mogul makers, and not to forget those of us who always end up on the dope slope. 2. Bio-Med

Bio-Med, a program developed at UC Berkeley, convened during second, third, and fourth periods this year. The curriculum consists of social science, taught by Bill Hanks, mathematics, taught by Janette Johnson, and a physiology based science, taught by Dwight Roberts. The program takes two years to complete. The subjects interrelate, so when a math tool is learned, it is applied to science, while the social science examines the moral issues involved in the medical fields which relate to the system of the body studied. A great emphasis is placed upon medical careers. Many speakers came in to explain the varied vocational areas, and the students took field trips to hospitals and labs in the area.

Math and Science

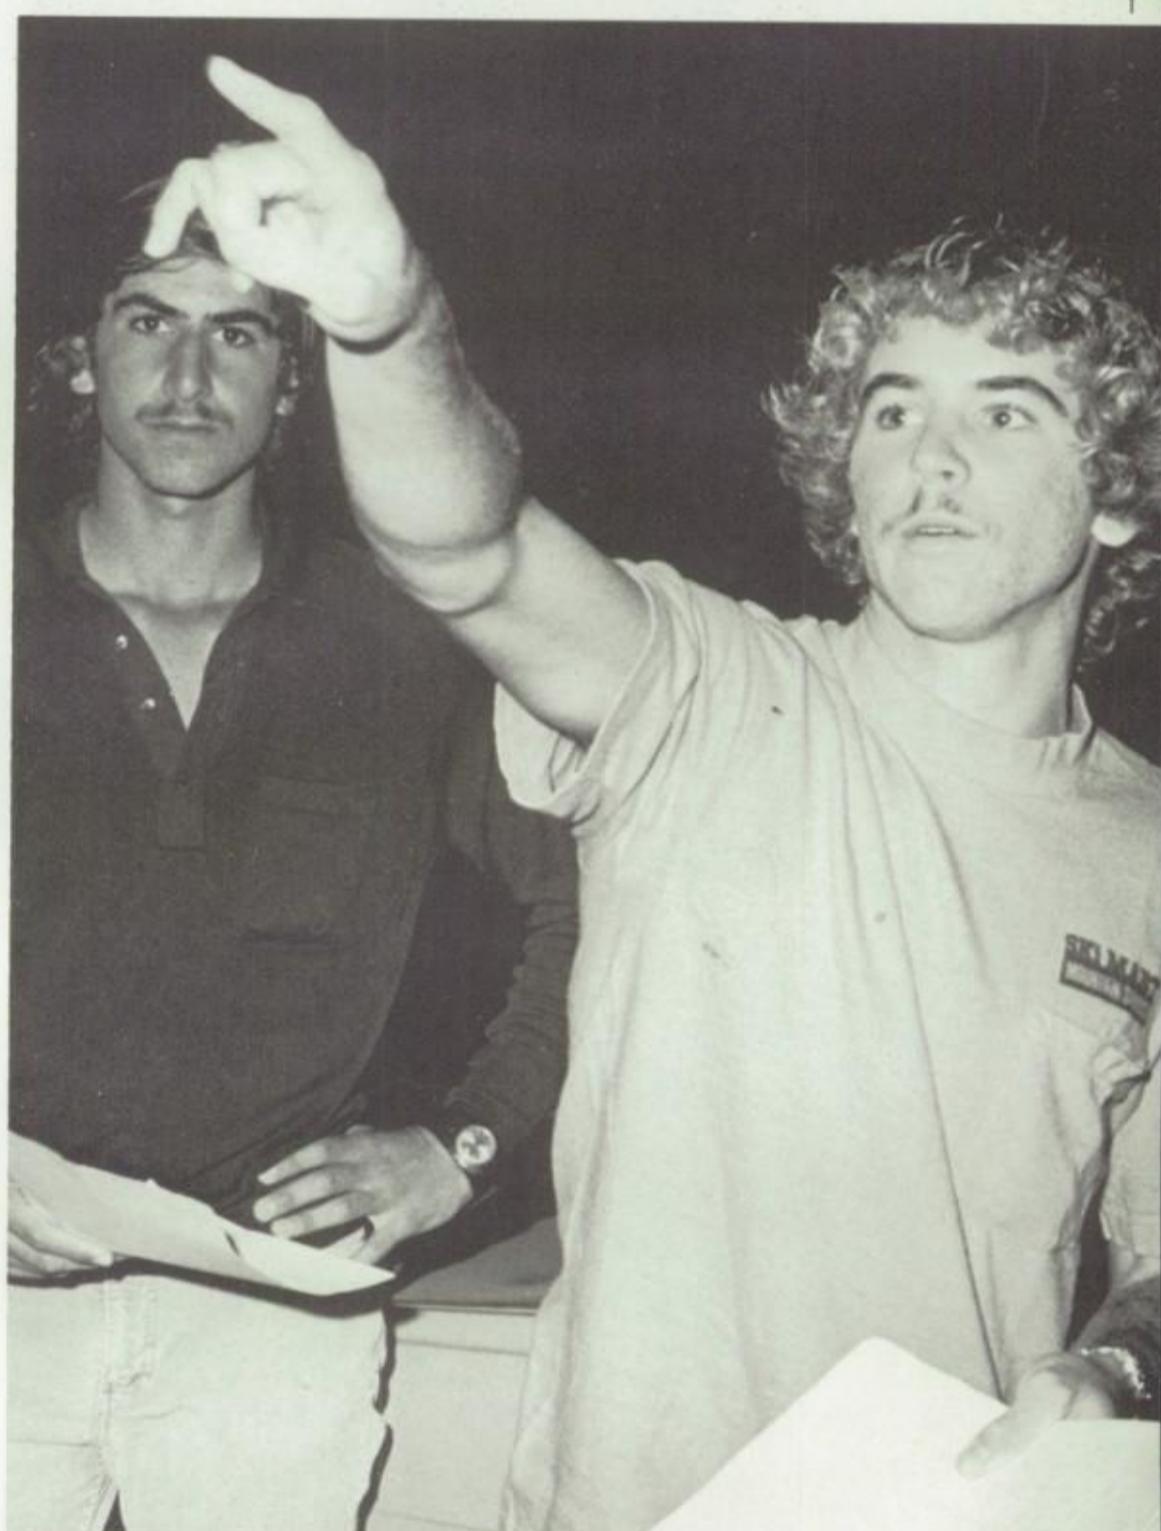

Boasting the rowdiest, wildest, and most infamous car rallies in Newport Harbor history was the Advanced Math and Science Club, advised by Mr. T. Scott Dukes. Besides car rallies, which many club members claim was the club's main activity, the club also attended the Griffith Park Laserium Show, and the Observatory Museum. They also plan at least one more car rally in addition to field trips to the Los Angeles Museum of Science and Industry, and the Reuben H. Fleet Space Center in San Diego.

Social Science

This year's Social Science club participated in a major share of fund and spirit raising at Harbor. Their first objective was to acquire enough money to support a Christmas toy drive for underprivileged children. By sponsoring a dance and the film "Little Big Man" the club managed to make a staggering $700. This money allowed them to buy over 500 toys and hold a party for 100 children. The festivities were complete with a Santa Claus (alias Mr. Horowitz) who appeared in order to present the gifts to each child. Activities during second semester included seeing the play "Bubbling Brown Sugar" and other fund raising events.

Chess

The Chess Club, advised by Mr. Beatty, competed in a round-robin tournament with eight other schools. A part of the South League, the club participated in matches against Marina, Edison, and other schools in the area. Although most of the members already knew the basic structure of the game, the members met almost every day at lunch to practice strategy for their upcoming competitions. Also, some chess club members entered tournaments on their own outside of school.

Computer Science

The Computer Science Club is dedicated to furthering the knowledge and educational opportunities for all interested students. During lunch, the club held meetings which dealt with fund-raising events, state-of-the-art development, programming techniques, and new computer languages. Money raising projects featured this year were a car rally and a project for the administration. A tour of the Orange Coast College facilities aroused new and increased interest in the field. Pseudo classes and other programming languages were taught on occasion, so that knowledge could be passed on to others.

Military

A new club this year, the Military Club was organized primarily to bring together students interested in military history. The club usually met every day to alert members of the sales of military games and books and to inform them of new shops selling military artifacts in the area. During lunchtime meetings, many different battle and simulation games were set up for the members' use. The club is a "poormans" club. There were no initiation fees, dues, or fund raising activities. The members wanted to get down to basics, namely continuing on the ancient traditions of warfare.

Caldwell's Gringos

Mr. Caldwell's two 5-6 Spanish classes make up Caldwell's Gringos, the great club that spends the whole year raising money for their exciting trip. For the past two years, the club has travelled to Baja, but this year they are hoping to go to Mexico! The purpose of the trip is to acquaint the members with the Mexican culture, and also it provides an incentive for the students to speak Spanish. During the year, the club sponsored bake sales, car washes, car rallies and even a dance to earn money. Habla Vd. Espanol?

Chinese

The Chinese Club, which was actually Miss Porter's Chinese class, engaged in many activities. During the year, the members put on dances, and candy and bake sales to earn money for their trip to San Francisco for the Chinese New Year. They were also invited to attend a language contest at the University of San Francisco. In class, they were very fortunate to have Li Chang from Taiwan to help them with their Chinese lessons. They also participated every Friday in various cultural activities, such as Chinese painting, films, and guest speakers.

Latin

The Latin Club, advised by Mr. Joe Robinson, participated in many fund-raising activities this year. Besides sponsoring candy and bake sales, the Latin Club also sold Harbor Mugs in order to acquire enough money for their extensive field trip. Besides sales, the Latin Club went to a nearby Roman restaurant for dinner. Club members also made a historical movie, "Hannibal Crossing the Alps," which was shown in the Latin classes.

International Club

The International Club is a new organization this year, composed of the previous separate German, French, and Spanish clubs. Headed by Foreign language teachers, Mr. Shira, Mr. Gentile, and Mrs. Johnson, the club partook in many interesting activities. In order to raise money for their excursions, club members sponsored a sucker and button sale. The International club participated in the annual Oktober Fest, as well as eating in a French restaurant.

Beacon

We, the glorious graduating seniors, (though some of us may not make it because we're on the five year plan) of the Beacon staff, leave a legacy of mis-quotes, misinformation, and missed deadlines.

Our final word to Harbor:

The ever complimentary Raun Thorp, "Bring out the straight jackets!!! AAAhhh!!!"

Sophisticated Joanna Gwozdzowski, "Kevin, your head is as big as a _____."

Dan Burton, casual as always, "What do you mean my cutline stinks???"

Kevin Robertson, who is challenged only by Peter A. Shelton for the biggest ego, didn't have anything to say.

Gordy Grundy didn't want to say anything, but an appropriate saying might be, "No, Tarpits was NOT a pun."

Firm and well in control of herself, Janet Smith always knew where her head was at: "Trish, where's our copy?"

Naturally, Trish, who is fairly knowledgeable, replied, "I thought YOU fed the dog!"

Della Robertson survived her years on staff, and can be visited in the Happydome in Pacoima any weekday between 4 and 6.

Peter A. Shelton, whom everybody loves, commented, "Respect, we need more respect around here. I've been on the staff for ten years, maybe that accounts for my strange behaviour."

And Ralph Steigmeir, ever an inexhaustible fountain of wisdom, helpful hints and humorous anecdotes revealed, "I have absolute faith in the BEACON staff." Yeah, why don't you look at the masthead of December 16, 1976 issue, Stud?

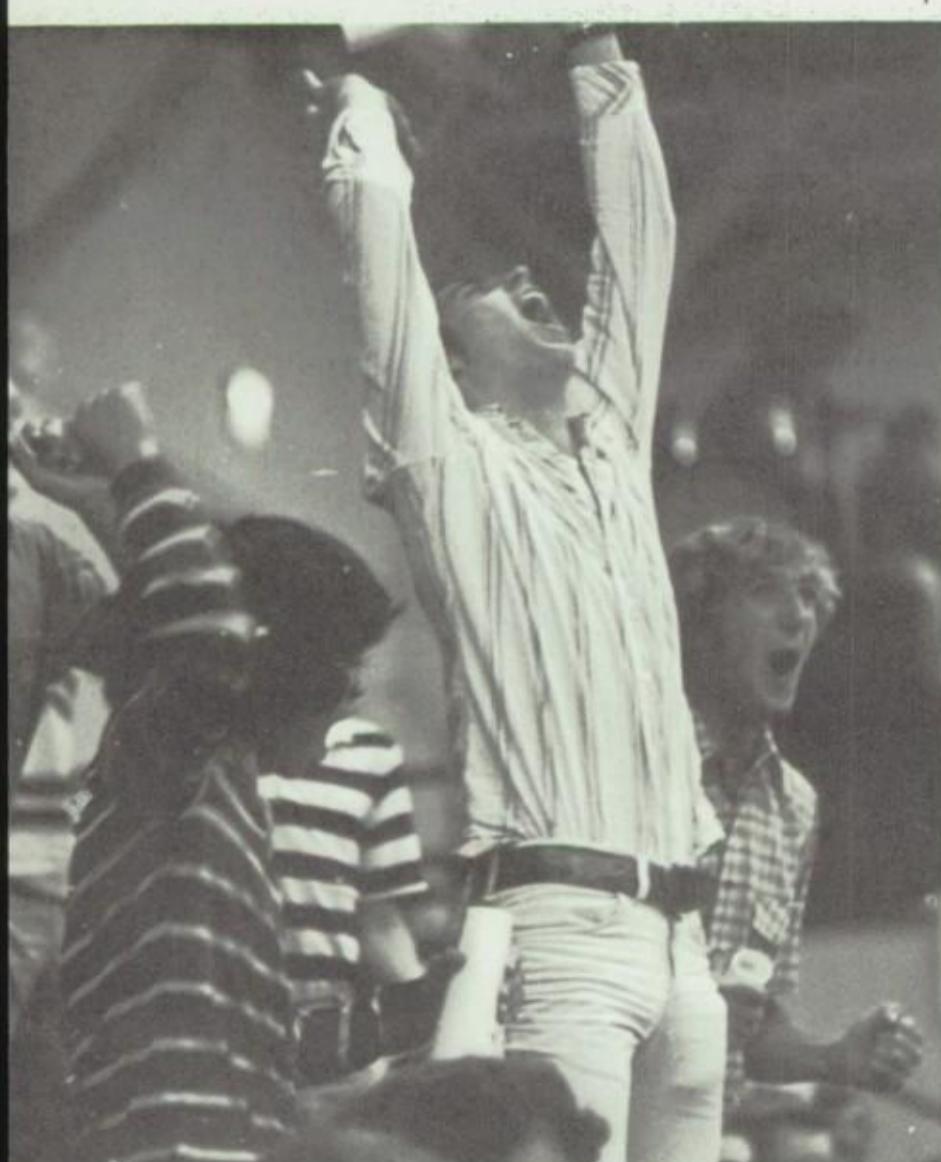

Finally, to all the underclassmen we would like to leave you with these words, "The power of the press is astounding." Why? In last issue, someone got his finger stuck in a door and it hurt all day.

FACULTY

Newport Harbor is not exclusively a students' school, it also belongs to the teachers or so rumor has it. Some students only know a few teachers, while others know all too many. This section is dedicated to the teachers, custodians, secretaries and administrators who make these hallowed halls into the institution of higher learning that they are. Each teacher had been asked to provide their hobbies and the person they most admire.

ADMINISTRATION

The newest addition to Newport Harbor this year is the principal, Mr. Jacobson. He is a man dedicated to his new position of responsibility. He intensely dislikes disorganization and hopes to provide a new sense of direction for Newport Harbor High. Mr. Jacobson is tied to the values and ideals which make a good principal a great principal, those of concern mixed with a firmness and determination to "get the job done."

His interests beyond those of school activities include a love for sports of all kinds from dirt biking to golf, from scuba diving to snow skiing. He also enjoys motocross and the Indy 500 race. Mr. Jacobson is a very diverse man and the students of Newport Harbor welcome him to our school and thank him for a year well done.

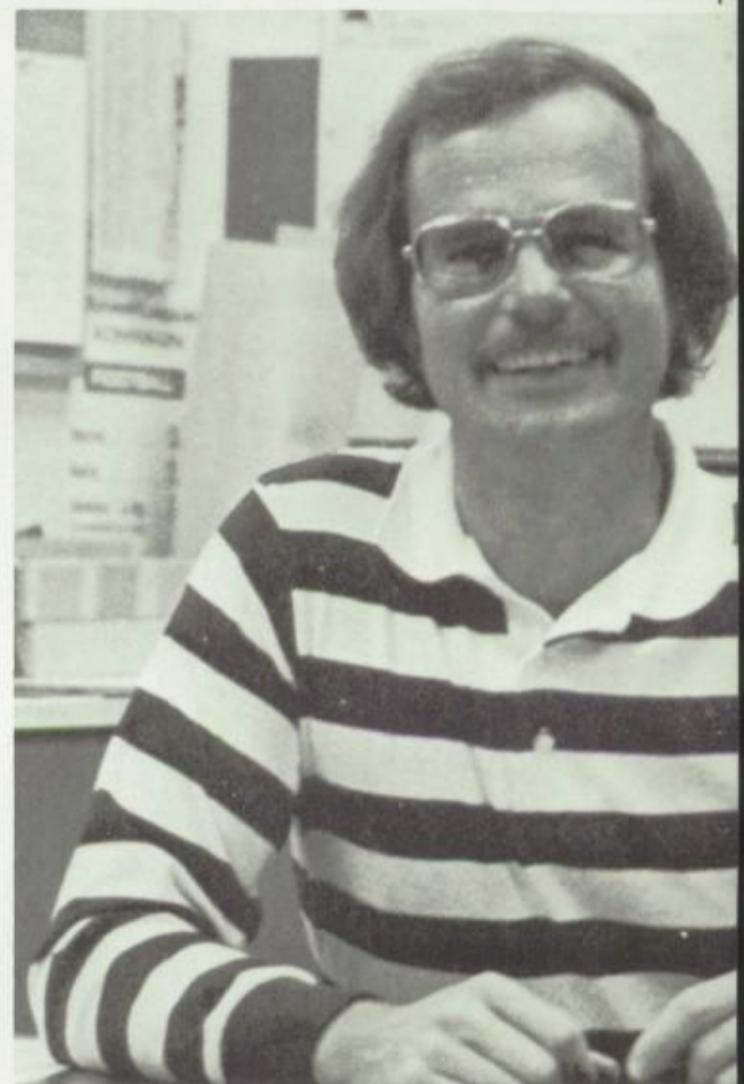

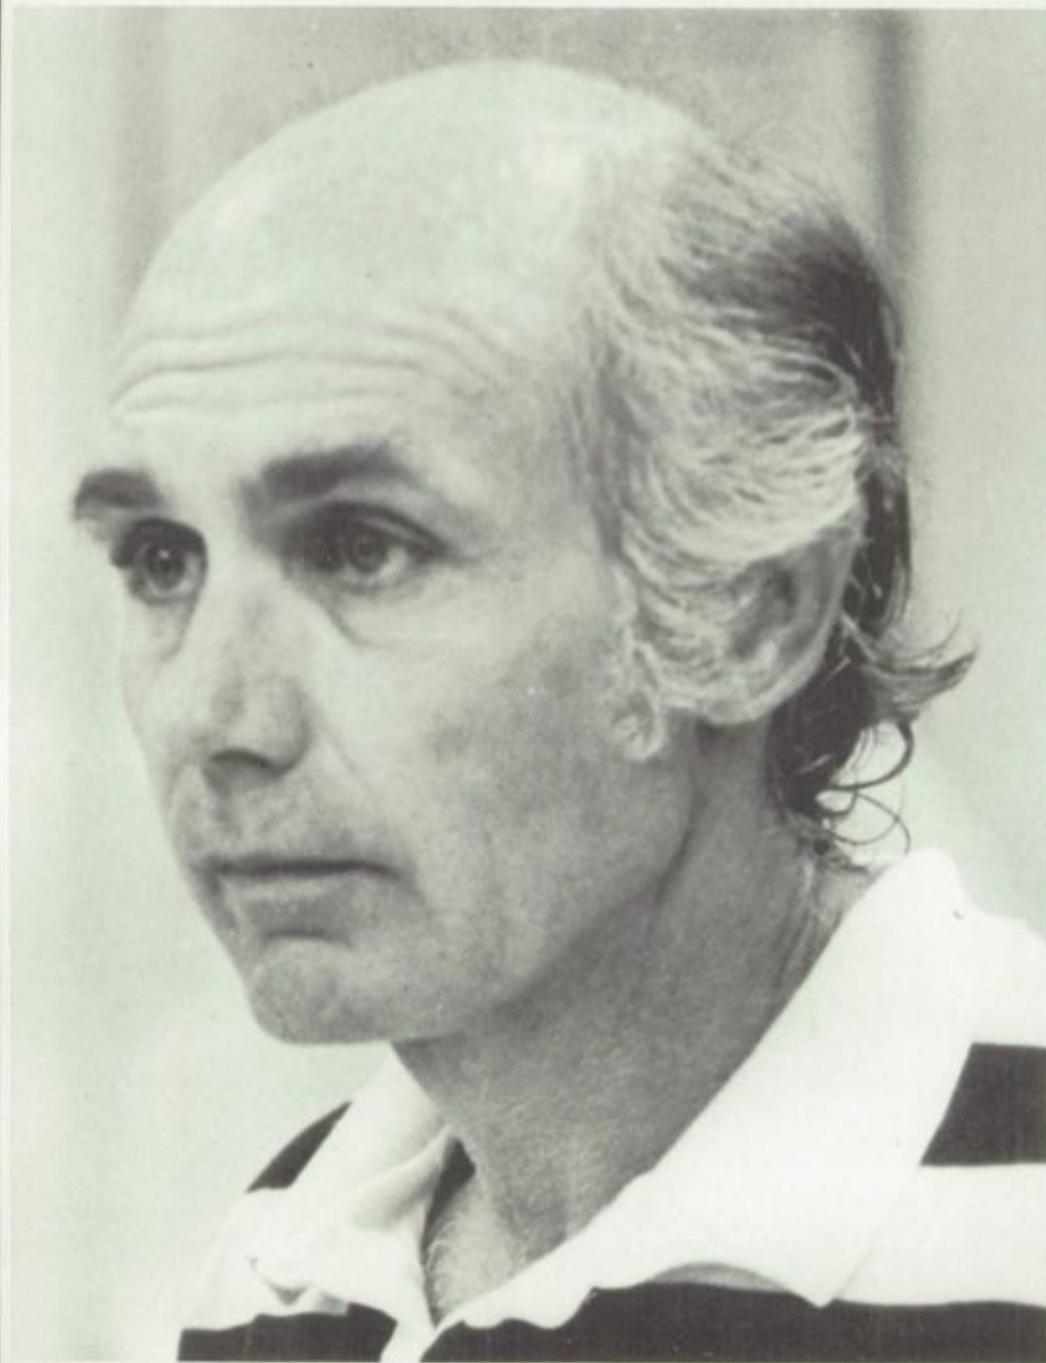

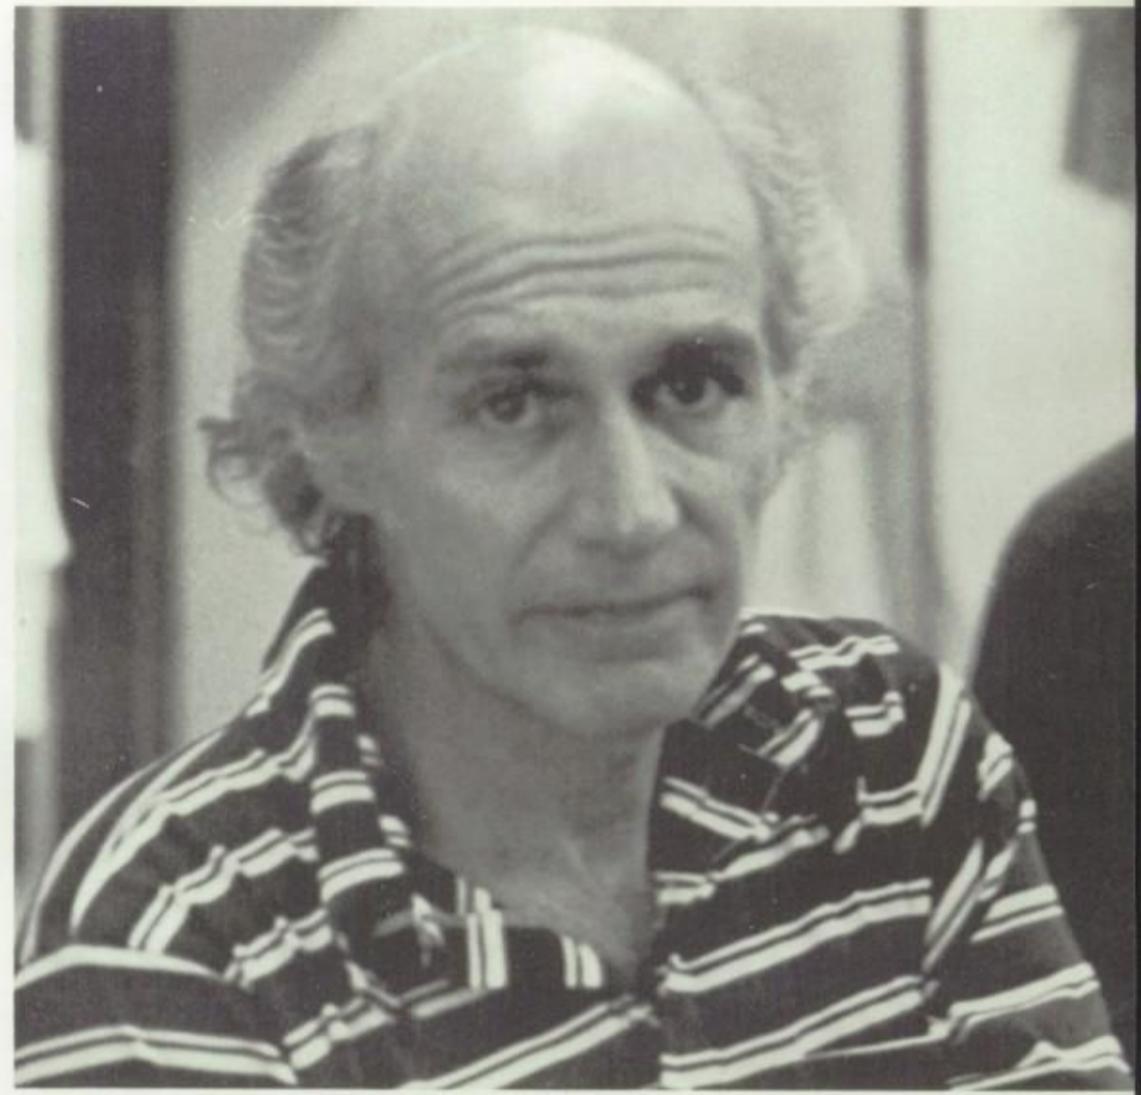

Mr. King, as the assistant principal in charge of operations, is an integral part of the mechanism which makes Newport Harbor run. Maintaining student discipline and attendance may sometimes seem a thankless job, but Mr. King takes the time and the responsibility to see that these areas are kept under control. As the assistant principal he is also concerned with the management of the school budget and the custodial staff. All in all Mr. King enjoys his job. His outside interests include a desire to travel throughout the historical United States.

Assistant Principal, student services, registration and everyone's friend are just a few of Vashke Breeding's duties. Getting involved with all, doing all and being all, she is one of the most important and appreciated people of this school. From the day that you arrive at Harbor High until the day that you leave, there is a constant reminder of her hard work. She will probably be one of our "best remembered people" from our days at this school.

2. Mr. Joe McCoy — "Oh come on, you don't really think I'd ditch a class!"
3. Mr. Jacobson on opening day.
4. Assistant Principal in charge of operations, Mr. Jack King.
5. Assistant Principal Vashke Breeding.

Dr. Wilson, assistant principal of curriculum and planning, coordinates Harbor's successful interdisciplinary courses. He is concerned primarily with those students who have problems adjusting to established learning methods. He also displays a deep interest in all people at Harbor High School and outside of it.

Mr. McCoy is in charge of attendance and "catching those who ditch." He works with students, parents and faculty. Mr. McCoy is a man who can compromise, laugh and get his job done. Fairness is his game. Having a good time and taking life easy are his values. He works overtime, anytime, anywhere. He's a very dedicated man, eager to help, listen, and talk.

Maury Lowe — dedicated activities director who spends most of his time with students and important teachers. One of his duties is to get students interested in the school. He also heads up Song and Cheer and Student Government. He enjoys working with students and at one time or another we all meet him. Snow skiing, having a good time and Porsches are his favorite things — "Porsches are Number 1." Mr. Lowe has done a terrific job as far as organizing school activities and getting people "involved" are concerned. He's kept the students and the faculty happy at the same time — and that is something to be proud of.

LIBRARY

The Library/Multi-media center is not just a place to park your body on rainy days. It is an amazingly extensive and complete center of information ranging over most any general or specific subject imaginable. This is available as the name implies in a multitude of media; and all are indexed for easy location. There is also a large group of students working under the Library staff to maintain and repair this assortment, and to help students decide how they can best use the MMC for their reports or own personal interest.

CUSTODIANS

Newport Harbor being, as we know, one of the best schools in the area, has a staff for every facet of HS operation. This includes the custodial staff. These courageous (and that isn't an understatement if you've noticed some of the trash after lunch) grounds keepers take care of the lawns and bushes, classrooms, halls and walls which could otherwise become unkept through the continuous passing of students and faculty. To this colorful conscientious crew, we dedicate this page.

1. Gene Meister, Howard Campbell, Albert Dixon, Robert Murray, Verless Chase. 2. Ken Dunman, V. Chase, John Grover, Robert Parker, John Meteer, Roy Archart, Tom Loque, Tom King. 3. You'll never guess what I found when I was cleaning up . . . 4. Looking for yesterday's lunch.

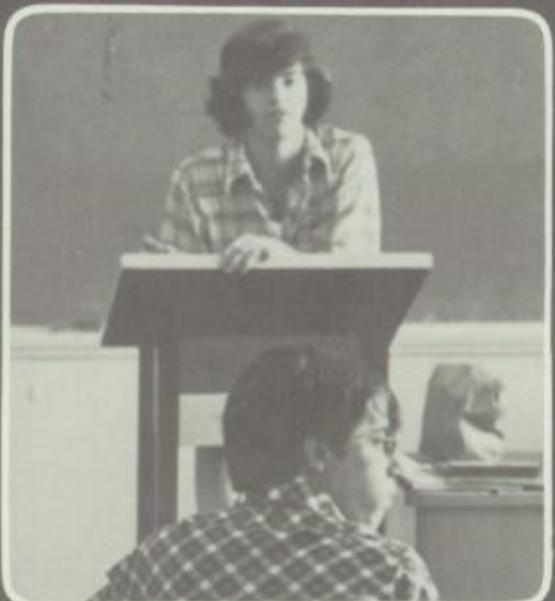

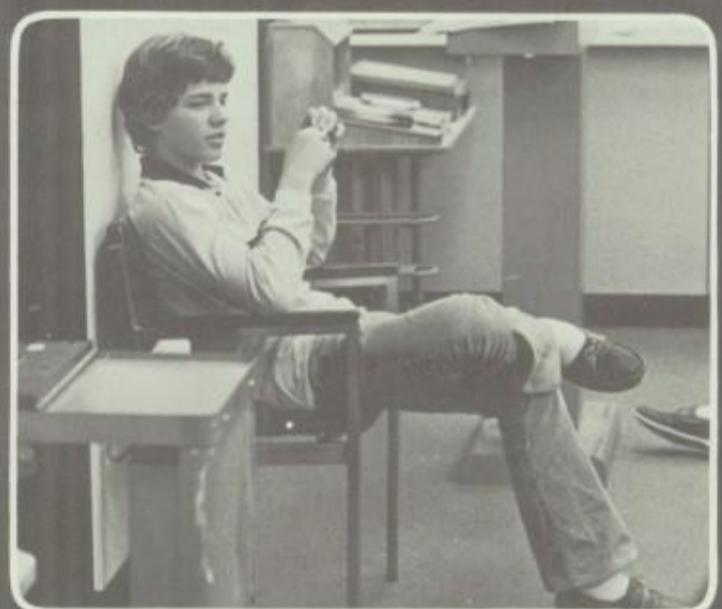

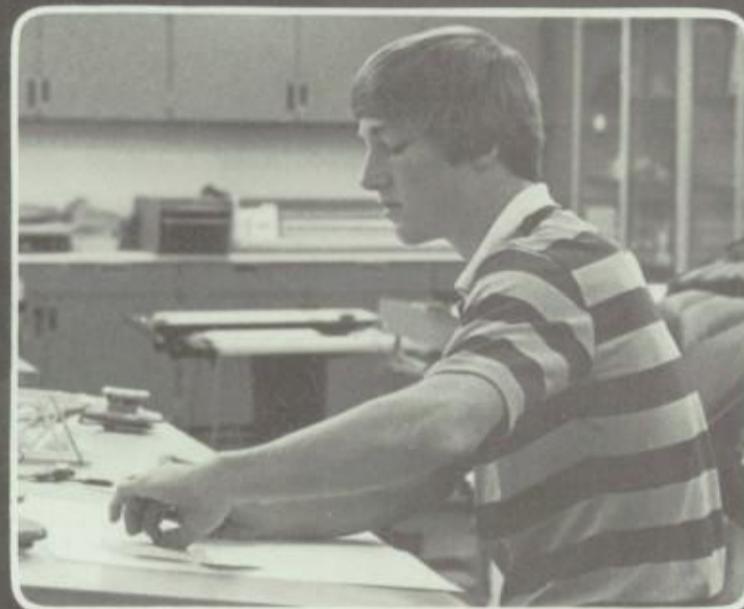

CAFETERIA

A lot of Harbor students would go hungry were it not for the tireless efforts of the Cafeteria staff. Daily they conquer truckloads of lettuce, mountains of cookies and row upon row of hamburgers so that NH can no longer hear the growling of little stomachs echo through the halls. We thank these culinary jugernauts, long may their spatulas wave.

Norma Bourgois and Rose Marie McDonald, "should we serve tacos or chef's surprise?" 3. Norma "have we got a lunch for you?" 4. Linda Illingworth cleans the salad for today's lunch.

ACADEMICS

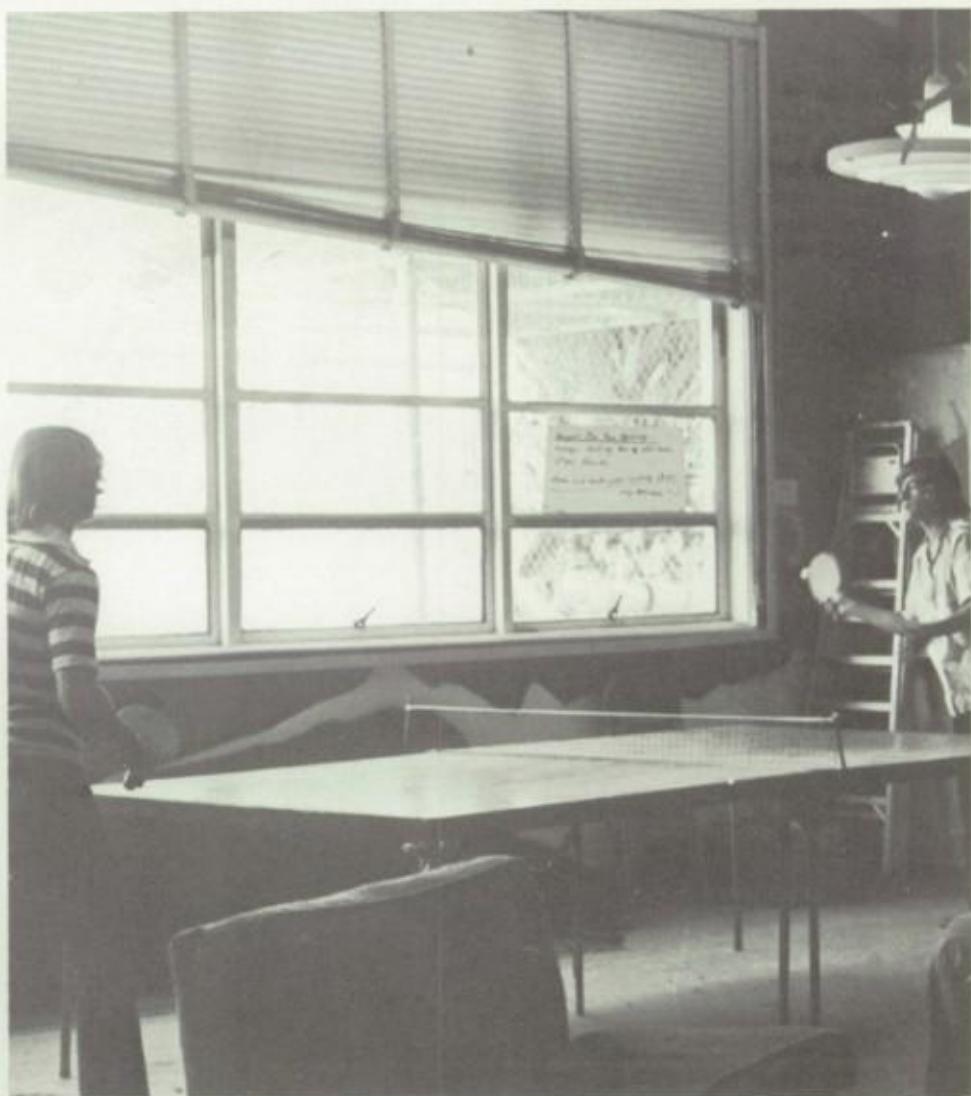

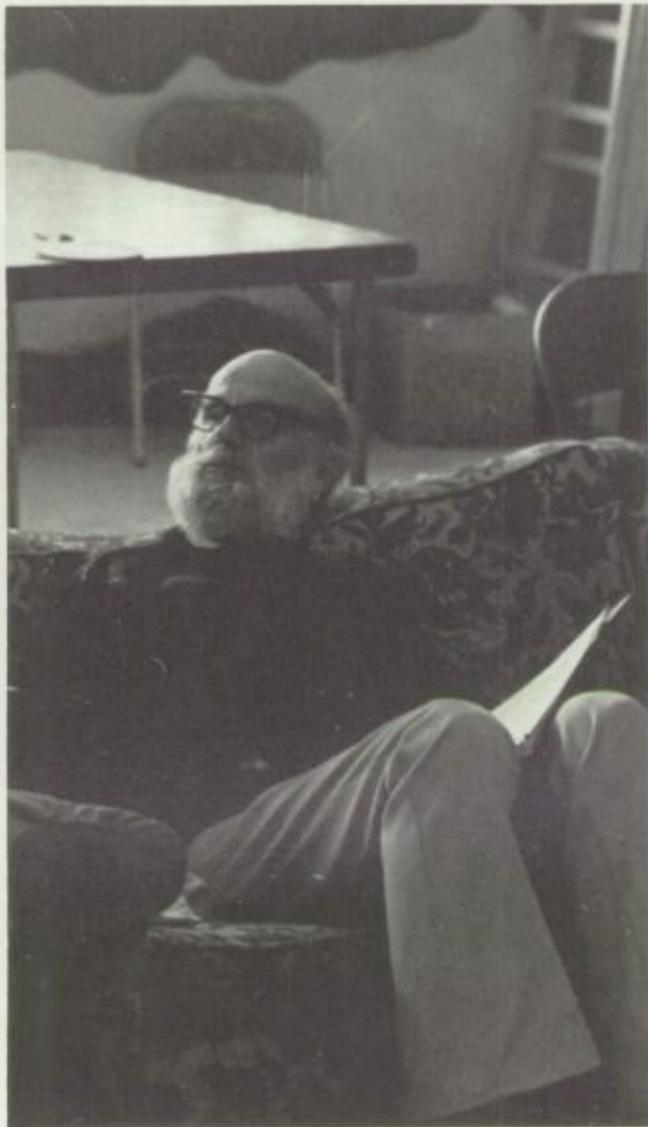

Despite our best efforts there persists the rumor that we are here to learn. And in order to learn, there are teachers lurking in all the classrooms for those unfortunate enough to have registered for their classes. From Anthropology to Yearbook, Poetry to Calculus, there is a class for every life style and every person. The vocationally minded can make 8mm films, design homes, fire pottery or publish a newspaper. For the college-bound, there is offered the usual Math, English, Foreign Language, ad nauseum. Look back to these classes and classmates, and think how you would have struggled through the world without knowing about reciprocals, rhytons and ribonucleic acid.

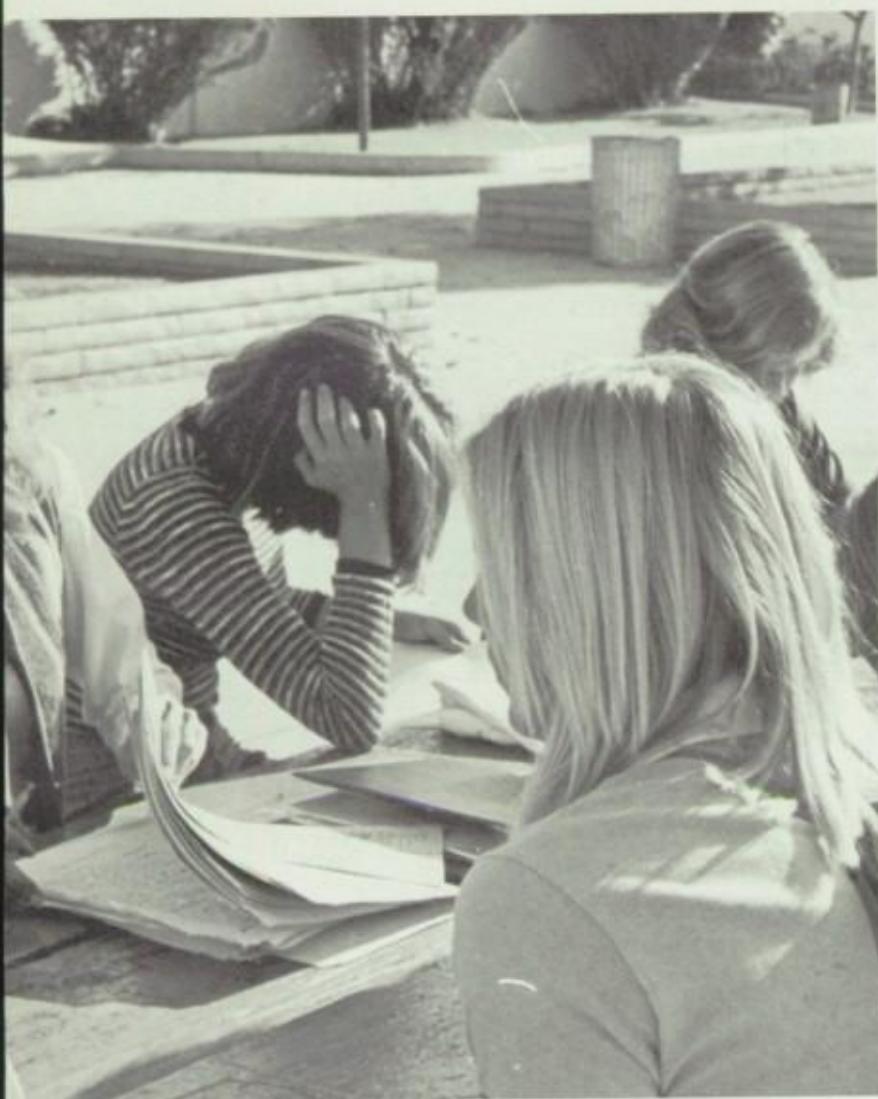

Alternative Ed.

Alternative Education is a system for students who prefer a more relaxed atmosphere, out of regular classes, to pursue education on their own. Both Newport Plan and Serendipity prepare students to be more self-reliant by providing a unique way to learn required credits.

Newport Plan in its sixth year is a community-based system. Students attend regular classes for two periods and the other four are spent in the community for individual activities.

Serendipity meet for the first four periods of Thursday, and this time is divided into different areas of learning; Social Studies, English, Science or Art. This is slightly more regimented than Newport Plan, but Serendipity in its fourth year is still more relaxed than the "mainstream" school program.

Art

For the artistically inclined student, Harbor's art department has all that he or she needs. Whether the finished product is a painting or a vase, the complete set of supplies and facilities needed are available, plus excellent up-to-date instruction on how to put these to use in better and new ways. Students sketch, etch, engrave, draw, paint and in general, are released on an artisan's spree in art classes. In crafts, students weave and use paper maché, and leather in all their forms. Every year the most outstanding finished products are put on show for display, judging and sale.

Business

The Business Dept. is for students who expect to enter a marketing or secretarial field. A wide field is offered in these areas in the accounting, bookkeeping and marketing classes; and in typing and shorthand courses as well. The typing class is also a favorite of all those NH students who are college bound, or who are tired of printing their history reports.

Work Experience is a program through which students can earn credit for work and jobs held off campus; after, before and during school. While they are gaining invaluable experience in the job, training for a possible future career, which in-class programs would not have provided, the students earn wages and credit both.

English

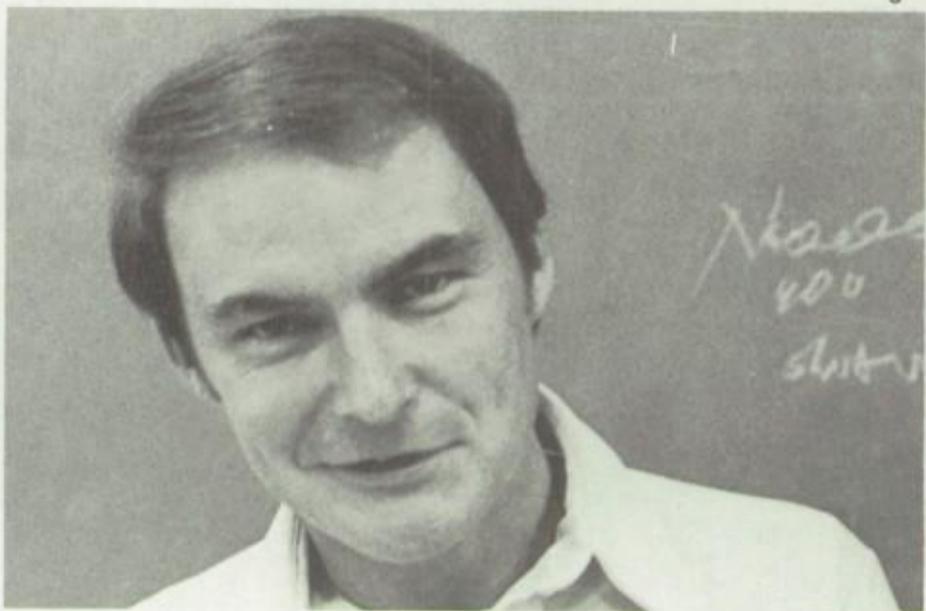

The anguished groans of AP students "burning midnight oil" their zombie-like faces "the morning after," 600 freshmen squirming in their seats viewing "Romeo and Juliet" philosophical Bible discussions, and learning how to live with dying: these are all part of Newport Harbor's English Department. Most students will spend at least three of their high school years here, advancing from an incoherent freshman scrawl in papers complete with fragments, run-ons and dangling modifiers to the sophisticated five paragraph essays written in the junior year. For those who go on to participate in the senior AP program there is even a greater improvement as they advance from basically good writing to critical essays.

Foreign Language

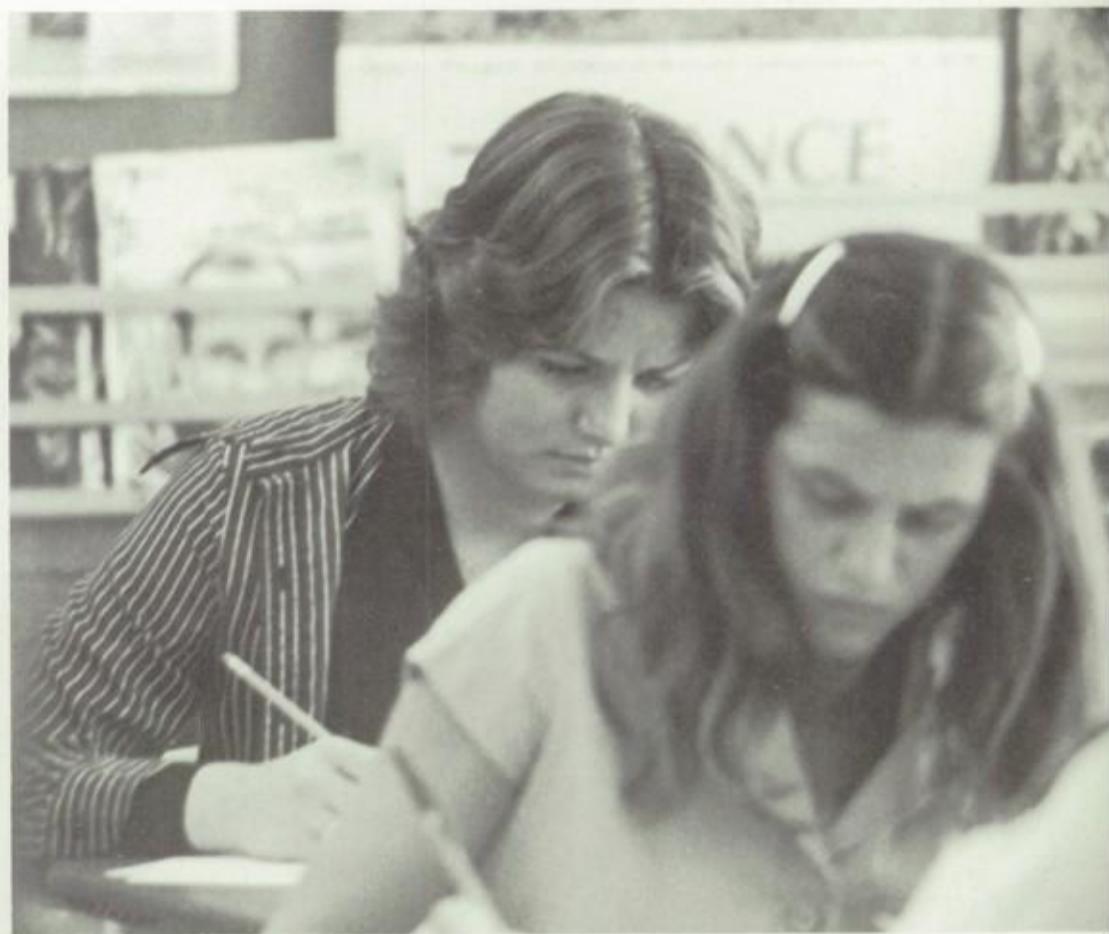

Not only do NH students take precious English, but also take courses in foreign languages such as Spanish, French, German and Chinese as well as Latin. The foreign language dept. provides a wide range of these. The Latin is useful in vocabulary and word identification. The elaborate language lab is extensively used for listening and practicing the language.

Home Economics

The Home Economics dept. prepares girls and in recent years, boys too, for the life in a home of their own. Boys readily accepted the cooking classes, for obvious reasons, and some also enrolled in the "You the Consumer" class, but sewing, decorative stitchery and Interior Decorating are still basically all girl classes and very popular. You the Consumer gives students insight into buying food and household goods. This dept. also has a nursery school in which students can learn by experience how to care for small children.

Industrial Arts

Industrial arts provides vocational training for students planning on going into careers related to the offered classes, or those for whom the art classes have not appealed, but are creative enough to work in these fields. There is wood shop for the budding carpenter and furniture craftsman. Drafting, electronics and metal shop are also popular as is power mechanics, where students learn first hand all the workings of engines. Whether it is building or designing, Industrial Arts is the place for you!

Math

Whether in the lowest Algebra class or in calculus, math students share a common tie: too much homework. Ah, but how will we get on in life if we didn't know our trig functions or how to factor out a polynomial. For those endowed with more mental prowess than others, or perhaps just the stamina and willpower to do the homework, Advanced Placement classes offer a chance for college credit.

Multi-Media

The Newport Harbor library, haven for students and screwoffs alike, has more than the countless books all libraries have. It has an efficient and eager to help staff, of both superiors and students alike. But this is only part. There is also the Multi-media center where one can make dittos, slides, transparencies and borrow from a multitude of equipment. Projectors are also available to augment any report to a point that a teacher can't help out say "A". In the summer an 8 mm film making class is offered, with direction in both animation and documentary.

Performing Arts

Dancing and prancing among us are people who have a peculiar talent, showing everyone that they have a peculiar talent. Actors, singers and musicians, classical or pop; I.D. Flag Twirlers and Anchorettes, all are a part of life here at Harbor. What riotous indignations and outrage would occur if we had no senior play, or pep rallies were cancelled. What would happen to all our budding Marcel Marceaus and John Waynes? And what of the future Al Hirts or John P. Sousas? It is these introverts that are here included; the symbol of NH talent and spirit.

Physical Ed

Good P.E. continued this year with the boys and girls participating in a variety of sports. This program was especially popular with many upperclassmen, who now only need two semesters total of P.E. in their Jr. and Sr. years. There are still the whites, reds, and blues and (occasional adapto commandos) of boys P.E. with grouping based on individual ability, regardless of age. Girls P.E. continued as usual also with all the girls competing together. For those interested, however, the participation of co-ed showering still isn't being seriously considered, and so we will have to contain our schooltime physical exercises to sports.

Safety Ed

Experience is the best teacher except for those sophomores who are thrust behind the wheel of a monstrous Buick. On the first day in class, the instructor will tell you to parallel park in a spot that looks two inches by two inches. But someday many of these students will be owning their own cars and they will want to keep that necessary status symbol in one piece. Safety Ed. not only teaches driving procedures and how to fix a flat tire, but also basic emergency first aid and the dangers of drugs, tobacco and alcohol. For those students who are not "behind the wheel" there is still a chance they might go to the unforgettable driver's simulator. What with checking your right rear and going 120 on a residential street, this is an all time favorite.

Science

This year the science department had stifling sulfur labs, nauseating nudibranch dissections and intimidating inclined plane problems, this department has it all. This year it offered 14 courses, from earth science to botany to physiology, any subject that the serious or non-serious science student might want. The environmental nature center continued its service in providing both a pleasant community park and offered examples of several California life zones, as well as a prime hunting ground for biology students hoping to finish their semester collections. During the summer about 40 kids are able to go to the California Sierras — backpacking for a week. Then in March there's another trip that is taken; spending a week studying the environment of Yosemite. The math and science club was again strong, this year earning money to see Laserium.

Social Studies

Social Studies takes in our political and social world, past and present, and presents it through a variety of classes and media. Classes range from African studies to Youth and Law. Besides the usual films, field trips, great speakers and array of subjects, seniors can choose for their senior history elective. We've had such speakers as the son of F.D.R., James Roosevelt, the State Attorney General, CIA agents, and several candidates from the recent political race. With all these varied opinions on our society, seniors can select their future political party as well as learning voting rights of the future voters.

Zonta Girls

The Zonta Club is a club of women that are involved in either the community or have and run their own business. These women with the help of Mrs. Breeding and a select committee of teachers at our school, honor a girl every month. The girl is chosen on her academic ability and her extra curricular activities she may take on.

Rotary Person

Each month a student at Newport Harbor is honored by the Rotary Club for his or her participation in all school activities. A rotarian is chosen by a select committee of people here on campus. They are chosen on their academic and school activities in which he or she must excel. Each student then must attend and speak before the Rotary Club at a luncheon in the student's honor. No December student was chosen because of Christmas vacation.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Again this year the female portion of Newport Harbor's athletes displayed their superior athletic prowess by retaining their coveted All-Sports Trophy . . . two points for all our girls. These 'Wonder Women' are official proof that competitiveness and beauty can co-exist. Combining femininity with ferociousness and the athletic 'killer instinct,' they have done it again. In Tennis, Volleyball and Hockey they reigned triumphant, giving their male counterparts a run for their money.

Teamwork and dedication led to an excellent year for the Varsity team, including one 13 match winning streak which spelled an easy clean sweep of sunset league play and a season record of 15 and 2. Finally lasting in the CIF quarter finals left them tied for 5th after their impressive season. In the earlier San Marcos Volleyball tourney they had tied for third.

The J.V. team season record was 12 wins, 1 loss, and a 9 and 1 league record which put them on top of Sunset League along with Varsity. In the Laguna J.V. Tournament Newport finish 3rd. Most Outstanding on the J.V. squad was Anne Yardley, Most Inspirational was Sally Butler, and Most Improved were Lynne Kelly and Louise Burbank.

Tennis

Leading Newport's Girls Tennis team to the CIF semi-finals was the number one doubles team of Allyson Riley and junior Melinda Myers and singles player, junior Kelly Smith. The Varsity players advanced easily in league play, after a clean sweep of pre-league games. Inexperience was the major factor causing the team's narrow defeat by the Foothill Knights — a down-to-the-wire thriller.

A new addition to the tennis squad; the J.V. tennis team composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores competed this year and was highly successful.

Field Hockey

Newport's girls field hockey ended a fairly successful season with a 4-1-3 record. One of the best games of the season was the Huntington Beach match, in which both teams played an outstanding game. As compared to a more physical type of hockey, it was a game of finesse and savvy. Even though Newport and Huntington tied, it was a beneficial game to all concerned.

Another upsetting, but exciting, game of the season was league finals against Edison. Newport lost 4-2. Even though the sailors were leading 1-0 at the half, the Chargers came on strong in the second period. The two scores were made by Candy Montgomery and Eileen Harrington.

Janet Jacobi and Eileen Harrington were voted into the first team all league. Jayne Draganza and Jennifer Shoemaker made all league second team. The Varsity team captain was Jennifer Hinshaw. Senior Jennifer Hinshaw, Eileen Harrington and Trish O'Reilly are the last members of Mrs. Caricof's original team of 1974.

Basketball

With only two Varsity players and last year's JV squad returning the relatively young girls basketball team lacking experience looked forward to an eventful season. Starting off with a win against El Dorado, 32-29, the team continued with the same style throughout the remaining games. Outstanding players for Varsity are: Jeanne Wolfe, Hillary MacDounld, and Marilyn Horn. Outstanding players for JV are: Jennifer Shoemaker and Katrin Hecht.

Swimming

This year the Newport Harbor girls' swim team was stronger than ever before. The team had approximately 50 members and approximately 30 of those were returning. However, the boost the team needed came with the 20 or so additional swimmers.

As far as the season went, the first two meets the girls participated in resulted in quite a few trophies. The Sante Fe Springs Invitational Relay Meet was won by the JV team and the Varsity placed third. Rookies also placed third. The two teams as a whole won the overall meet trophy. The second meet was the Foothill Relay Invitational in which the JV team, again, placed first overall.

In league competitions, the JV team was undefeated, save Fountain Valley. The Varsity team also swam quite well in the duel meets, but depth was a problem, something the JV team did have. On the Varsity team, however, are quite a few CIF competitors, Dawn Carlson, Audrey Woolfolk and Jan Wheeler were a few.

Coach Terry Winfrey is the driving force behind the team. Her spirit in fund raisings such as the swim-a-thon will be remembered by the Seniors leaving this year, whom she has coached since their sophomore year.

The girls workout third quarter, sixth period only, and starting fourth quarter, a daily two hour workout was a necessity for the team's overall winning record.

After winning their first practice meet against Palos Verdes and San Clemente on February 28 with overwhelming Varsity and Junior Varsity scores, Girl's Track was defeated by a narrow margin in their second meet against El Toro and Santa Ana Valley on March 3.

Their first Invitational was in Ventura on March 19. However, the results of this and all other meets were unavailable at press time.

From the very beginning Coach Rita McFarland was confident that the team would be very successful. It was the strongest all-around team that she had ever coached, and she was sure they were capable of winning League.

Softball

Girl's Softball was busy this year organizing an excellent team. Returners were seniors Sheri Gaddis and Dana Kenworthy and juniors Laurie Dunger and Katrin Hocht. Most of this year's team was comprised of underclassmen, allowing everyone's favorite physiology teacher and resident softball king, Morris Adams, and Head Coach Nancy Staub to experiment and work more closely with the team.

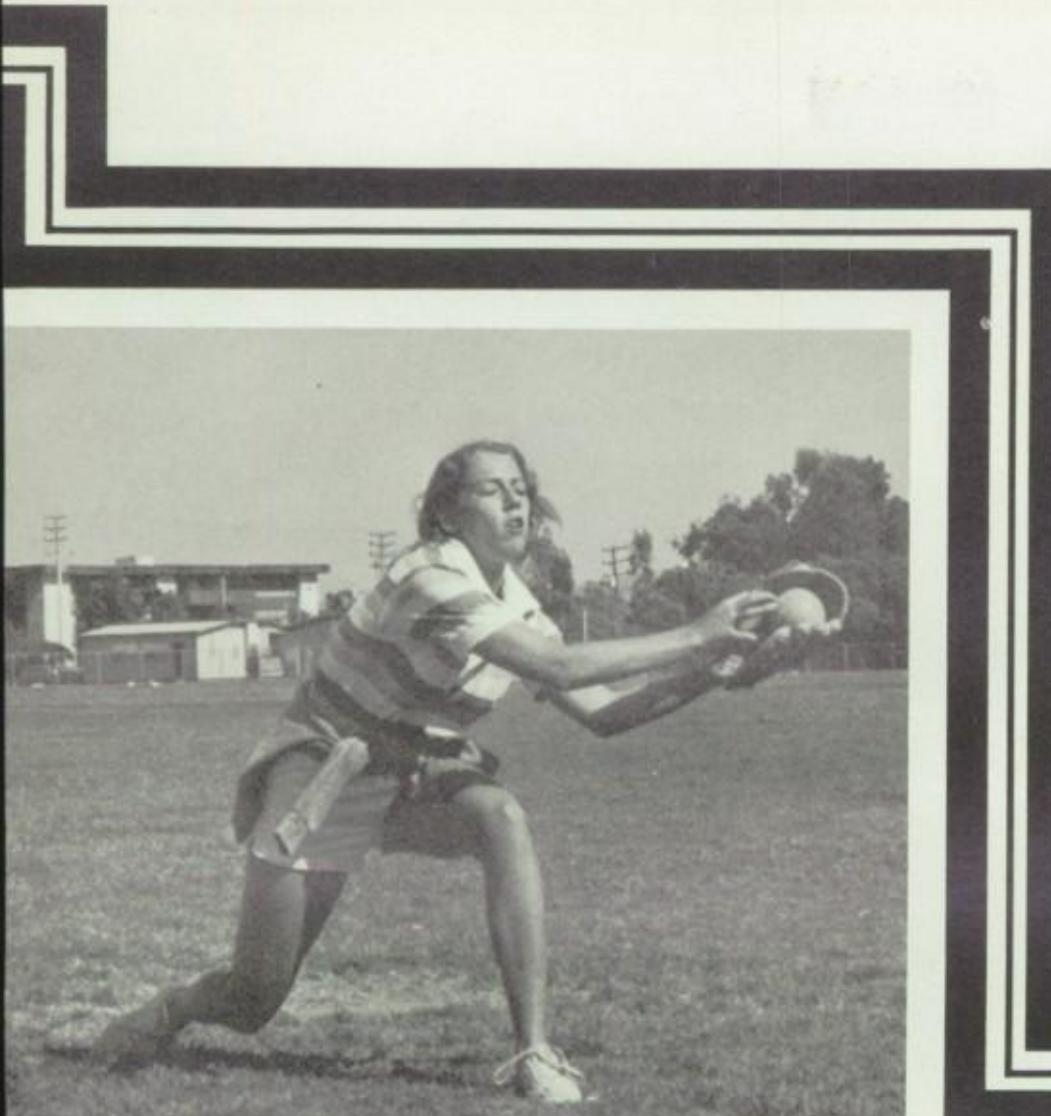

With the help of the ball machine acquired by last year's team, girls softball had great expectations for a great year. No scores were available as of press time, but the practice games were an encouraging indicator for future games.

G.A.A.

Once again the girls of GAA captured the Sunset League All-Sports title for their outstanding athletic performance in 1976. With this year's battle well on its way, hopes for another victory look good.

JV and Varsity volleyball and tennis came in first in league competition and JV hockey tied for first in the leagues as well. Basketball, gymnastics, track, badminton, swimming and softball also worked hard in their bid for the title. Much of the success was due to the fine coaching staff; Judy Fogt — volleyball, Gloria Grotta — tennis, Ellen Caricof and Laurie Snyder — hockey, Lynn Blanton — basketball, Leslie Aldwald — gymnastics, Rita McFarland and Linda Allen — track, Terri Wutherford — swimming, Nancy Staub and Morris Adams — softball and Judy Fogt and Henry — badminton.

In order to finance the many awards given to these outstanding athletes, GAA sponsored a very successful rummage sale last November, and honored the girls at the GAA awards banquets in February and May.

BOYS' SIDELINES

The Tar Machine was rolling strong this year, with league and CIF placings in many sports. Whether competing on land or in water, whether using their hands or feet, the sailors showed they can be ranked among the best. The fleet foots of track took league championship. The Basketball team took second in league, and made CIF playoffs. Web-footed Water Polo took first in league and also went to CIF. Volleyball took second in league, and was another to earn the CIF honor. Tennis finished an undefeated first in league, and went on to join the throng in CIF competition. Soccer was likewise, finally losing in the quarterfinals against the #1 team. It was, to say the least, an impressive year, but nothing unexpected from the Newport squads.

Football

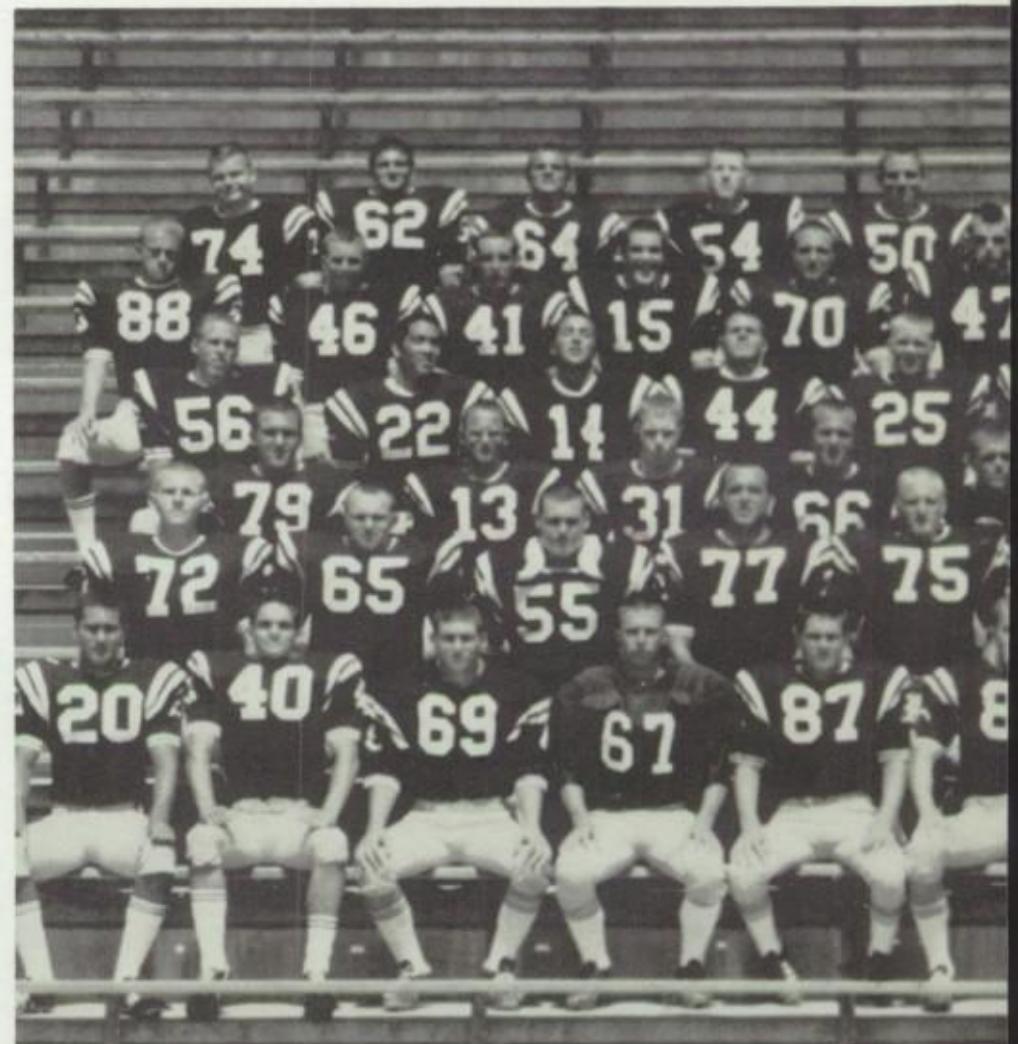

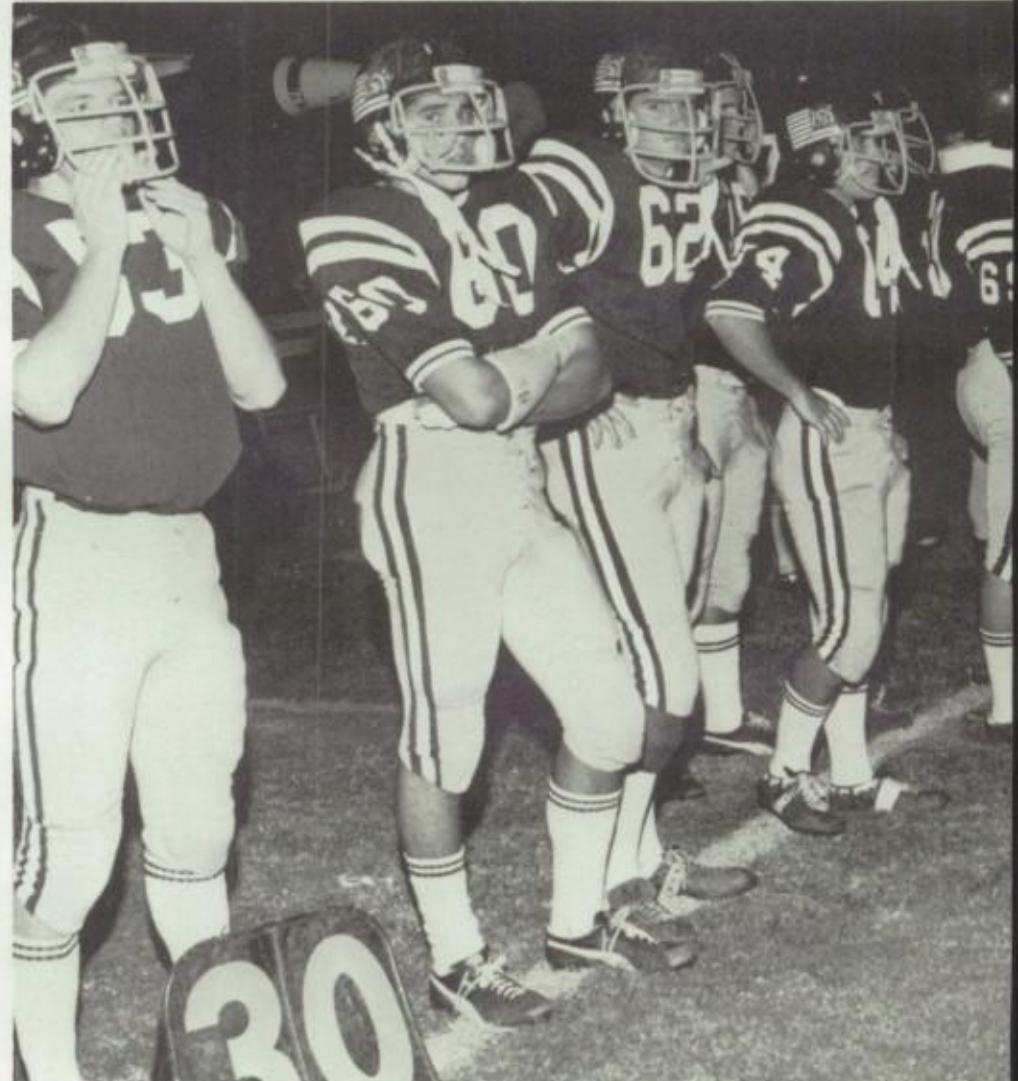

The Newport Harbor Varsity season ended well with a decisive victory over Marina after an inconsistent season this year with only a 5 and 4 record in league play. After a loss to Servite, the Tars came back with three wins against Corona Del Mar, Redlands and Loara. Then an equal losing streak was dealt by Edison and C.I.F. Champions Fountain Valley and Westminster in rapid succession. The season ended well with a close win over Huntington Beach and the crushing Marina win.

The most valuable player of the year was Dee Ward, and team captain was Al Von Steg. Dee Ward was voted best back, Owen Frost took best lineman award, and Roy Ray was the most improved player of the year. Five John Guss Memorial Scholarships went out to Chip Buterra, Al Vom-Steg, Greg Stevenson, Dee Ward and Roy Ray.

Water Polo

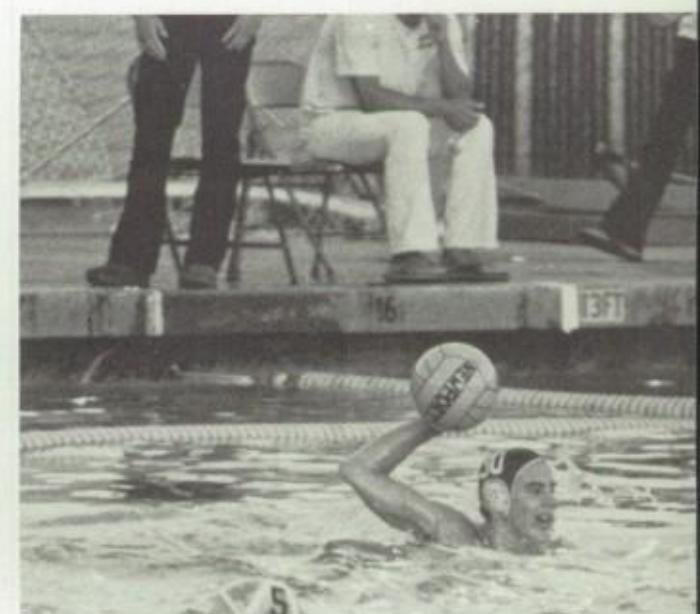

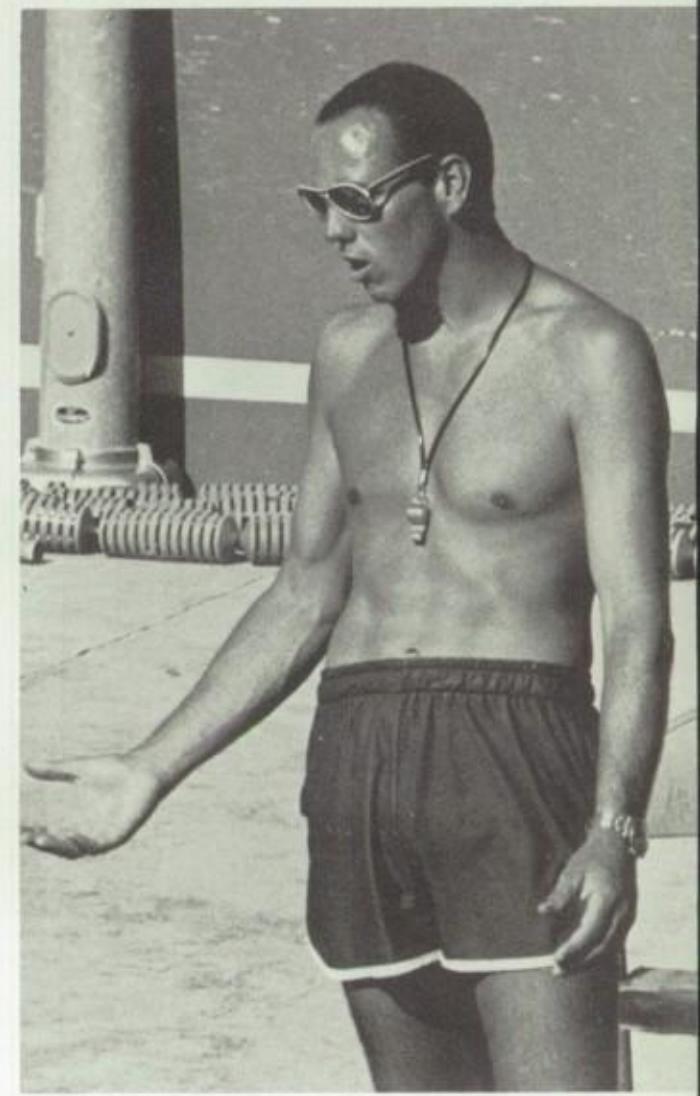

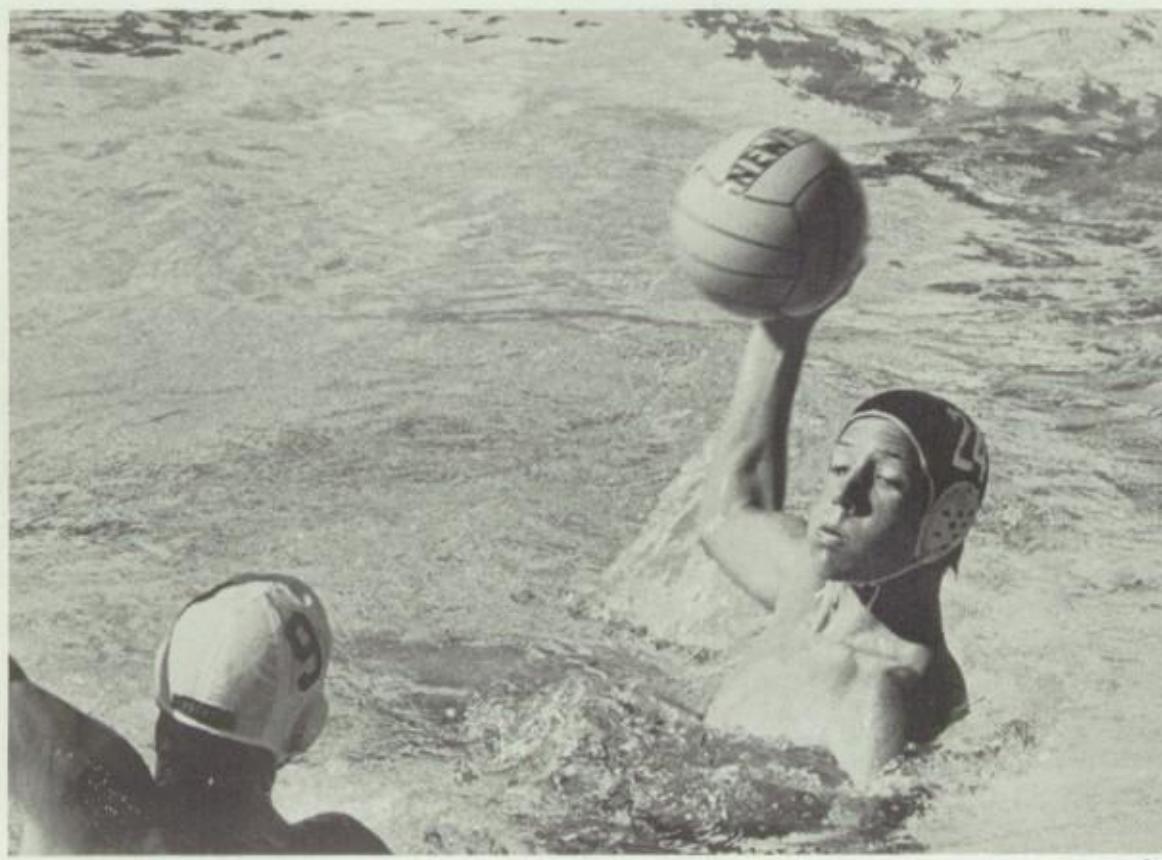

Newport Harbor's waterpolo team continued their winning tradition by once again reaching C.I.F. finals. Unfortunately, the Tars were defeated by their arch rivals, the Sunny Hills Lancers, 12-10.

The Sailors were devastating all season, finishing with an overall mark of 23-2 for 2nd in CIF. Both losses were dealt to Newport by the Lancers. Harbor won the Newport-Anaheim Tournament, Santa Terisa Tournament and the Sunset League crown prior to C.I.F. competition.

Kevin Robertson was not only the most valuable player of the Newport Harbor team, but also was voted the C.I.F. player of the year. Randy Parole was team captain, and Tom Myers was the Most Improved player of the year.

J.V. and Frosh-Soph both took their league championships, with 9 and 1 and 10 and 0 records respectively. In J.V. Most Valuable player was Jeff Fults, Team Captain was Chris Forsyth, Most Improved player was George Robertson. In Frosh-Soph Most Valuable player was Graham De Vries, Drew Cree was Team Captain, and Greg Stevens was Most Improved.

Cross Country

Although aiming for its 1st league victory, both J.V. and Varsity Cross County had an off season this year, and so fell short of its mark. Led by Tim Fier, John Overall, Phil Lowance, Dave MacDounld and Terry Gray. Newport Harbor's efforts failed more to a highly competitive league than lack of perseverance on Harbor's part. Coach Ogden, in his last year coaching here, is building for the future seasons and has high hopes for next year.

Basketball

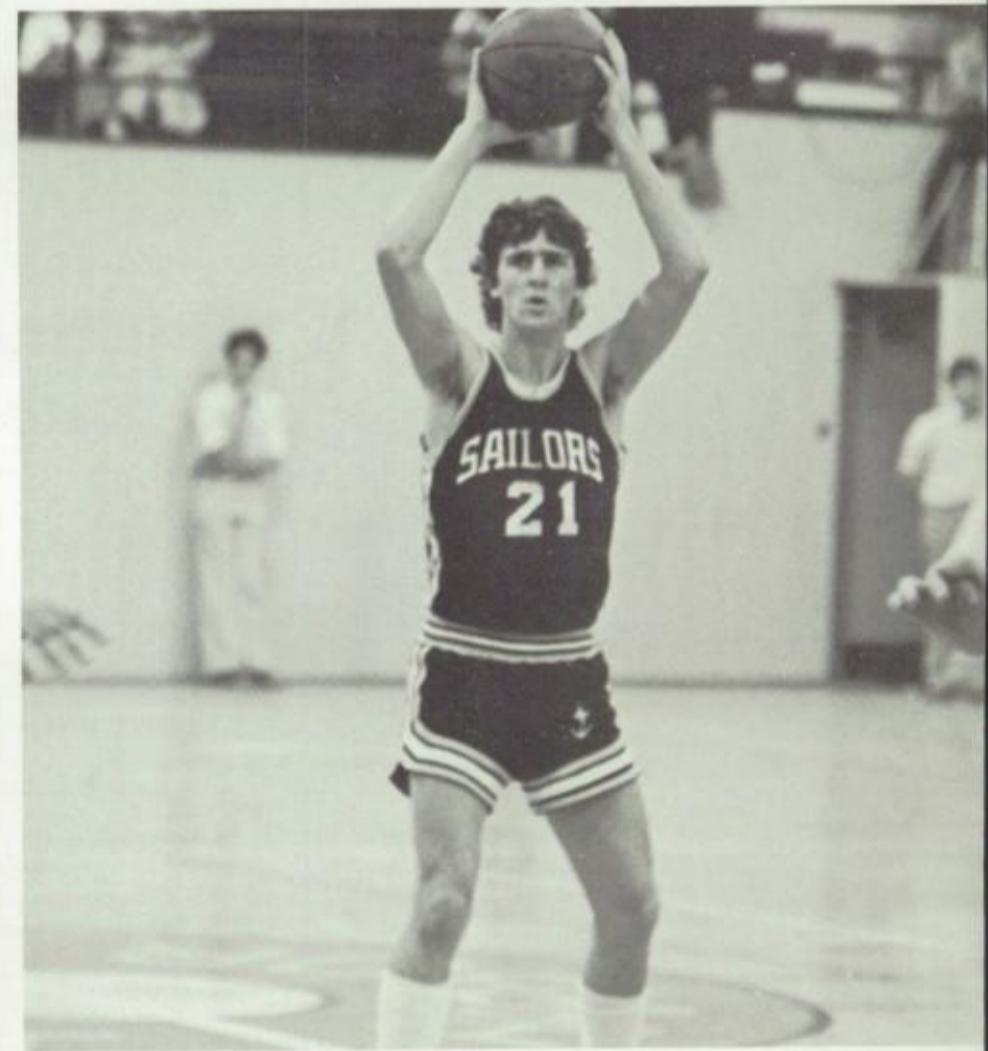

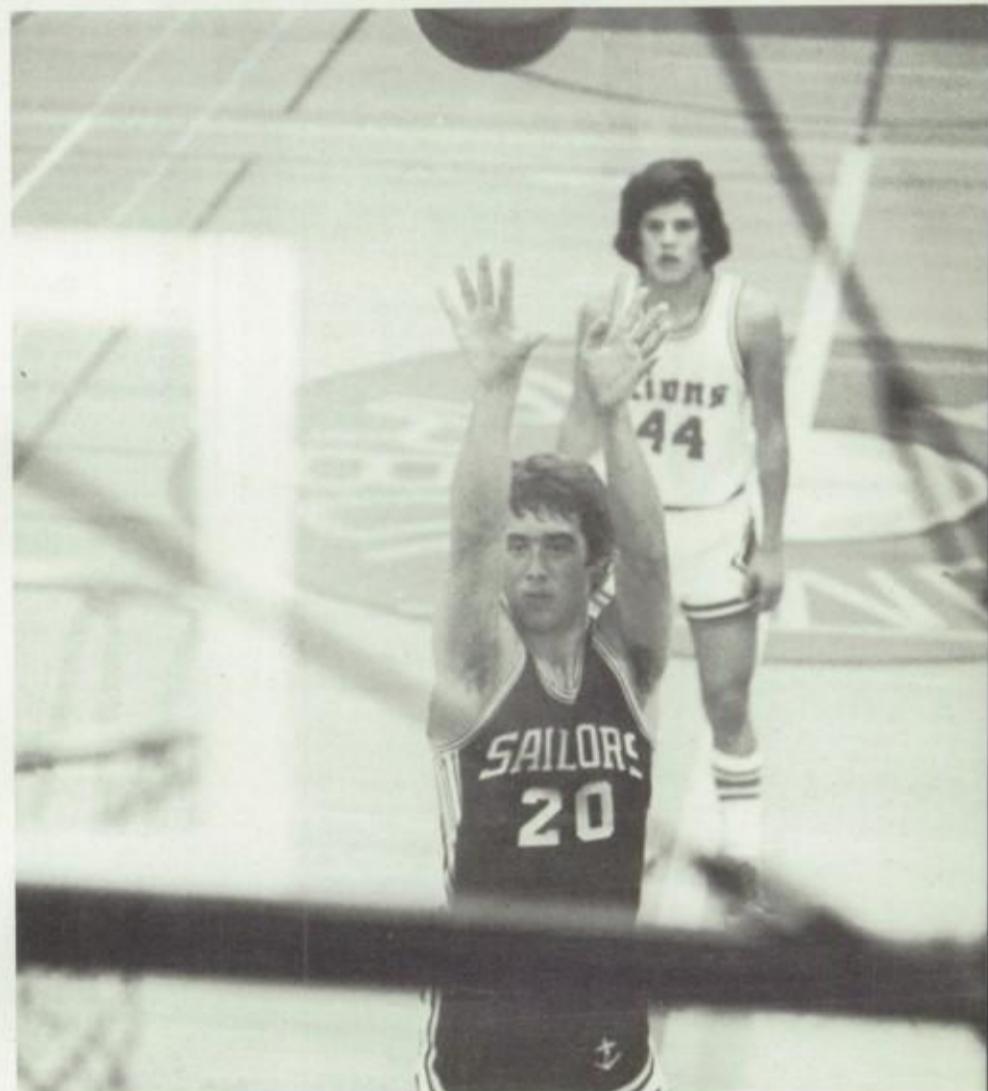

Newport Harbor's basketball team did well this year with returning Varsity players Ron Craig, Rolf Schwalb and Rob Galey, but at times the team was plagued with injuries. [Never the less,] they finished 2nd in the league with a 12-11 record, and so made CIF. Many of their defeats were due to a knee injury which took Steve Timmons out of the first six games. In their first CIF game, two players were out before the game began: Ron Craig with an ankle injury, Rob Galey had been ill. During the game Rolf Schwalbe was injured and Steve Timmons fouled out. Newport lost the game. Team captains were Ron Craig, Rolf Schwalbe and Rob Galey. Most Valuable player was Rob Galey. Most improved was Steve Timmons, and the winners of the "Hustle Award" were Mark Bradburne and Lynn Geronimi.

Swimming

The swim team as usual was doing very well this year at presstime. They're expected to win league again this year as well as go to CIF. Some of the standouts were Jeff Stevens, Mike Vellenkamp and Bob Montgrain as well as others. This year's team had a lot of depth this year which was a major factor.

Volleyball

The Volleyball team has been doing very well, having won twelve out of their sixteen league games as well as winning their six non-league games. At this time they are tied for second place with Fountain Valley for league and having beaten them two out of the three games they've met, the outlook of going to CIF and placing looks excellent.

Coach Ron Coon has a solid team, both the starters and the rest of the lineup, with talent and know-how put to the best advantage, with returning varsity players Steve Timmons, Cliff Schmiesing, Mark Slevcove, and Greg Hart, the team has even more potential than last year. Slevcove is the most valuable player followed by Schmiesing (captain), Timmons, Hart, and Greg Sullivan.

The JV team coached by Charlie Brande, is doing very well, winning league. Captained by Rob Phillips, it is a truly up and coming power for future NH varsity teams giving the team more of a four year program than the exclusive junior-senior group it has been in the past.

Coach Bob Haily led his track team to another Sunset League championship. The season was highlighted with excellent performances by Mike Hoose, Bob Schmitz, Scott Ertz, Wayne Kasperek, Steve Dawson and Chris Corum. These tracksters as well as others led the team to an undefeated varsity season in league. The team this year was so awesome that the other schools in the district refused to accept the challenge in the annual District Meet. Baseball

Baseball was expected to do well this year. Unfortunately at presstime they were still in play. Winning their first five non-league games and with standouts like Matt Palmer, Rick Clark, they started our very well. However when league began, there were a few disappointing games which were lost by only one run. Nevertheless, the team is still expected to do well.

Tennis

Newport Harbor's tennis team, coached by Pat Wilson and "Chapper" Blyker has great expectations for this year confident of winning league hands down, and looking forward to reaching the CIF semi-finals, and possibly the finals against #1 CDM.

The team is led by returning Varsity players Kevin Buckler, Jed Demnsey, Chris Domott, Jon Swedland, Phil Dewty, Jeff Kuhn, Eric Smith, Everett Gee, Vartan Piroumian and Paul Hood, has been almost unbeaten losing only to CDM, Sunny Hills and Palos Verdes by a margin of only one point, due largely to the fact that Jed Dempsey was out for 6 weeks because of a broken ankle, a blow to the team! But the team has a lot of depth, and in key players Dempsey, Swedland; and Buckler they will give a good shot at "chapping" them all.

Sailing

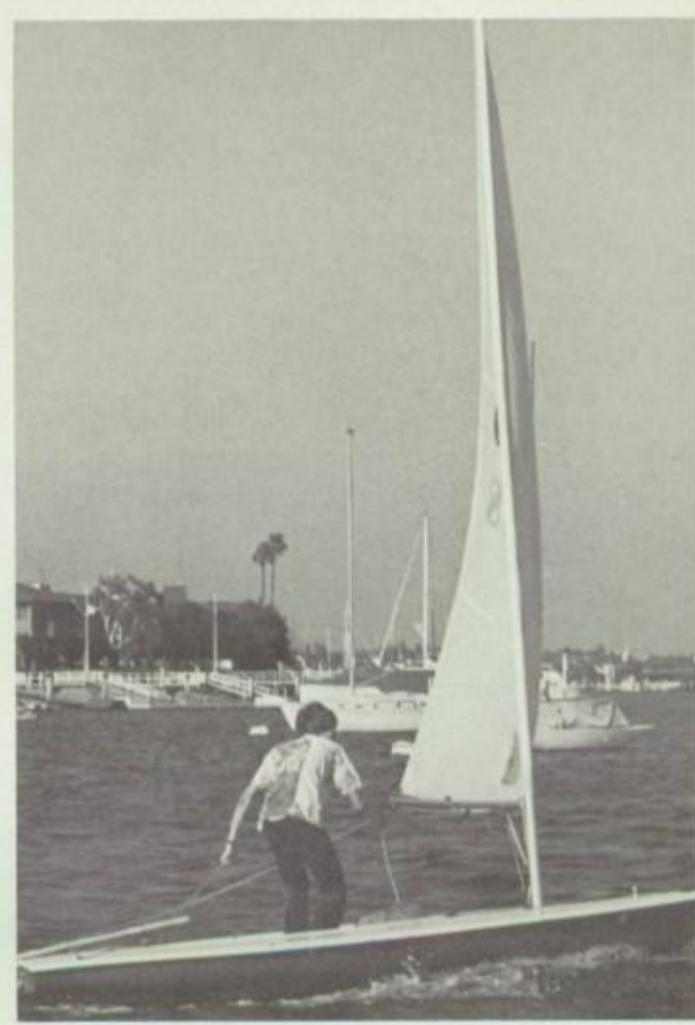

Following a tradition of domination over their league, the Newport Harbor sailing team expects to hammer their way to 1st place as they did last year. So far they are undefeated except against Texas, which is not in league competition. The last two years the NH team has won the Texas competition, but this year a light crew met with unexpected heavy winds. Their first match against CDM was won because CDM failed to show up. The Newport team has been working well together, and Uncle Bill Wakeman believes there are some of the best high school sailors in the country on the team. The team was led by Scott Barnard, Nick Madigan, Steve Arrigo, Mike Meehan, Brooks Benjamin.

Surfing

Harbor's Surfing team has done well in their league and will probably finish 4th or 3rd out of 9 teams. Weekly paddle and running workouts along with morning surfing, helped make the surfing team one of the strongest in the league. Key contests were against Edison and Corona del Mar which Newport easily won.

Surfing standouts this year were Danny Kwock and Dennis Langdale, both very aggressive surfers. Dennis Langdale placed fifth overall in league. Chris Burdorf was probably most improved, Anthony Gatti was most consistent. Other key members were Prestin Murray and Randy Stockstill. Mr. Kunta says that this year's team has more spirit and this team was "going all out."

STUDENTS

Students. Ourselves, our friends, and all those unfamiliar faces which we passed in the halls and all over campus without knowing who was behind them. Almost 3,000 unique individuals who we knew and will want to remember for the rest of our lives. Each one is separate, living the way he or she wants to live, different from ourselves in many ways. And each of them had their own moods, attitudes and ideas which changed with the days and so added to their personalities and shaped their actions. They are a part of us, and with these few glimpses into our pasts, we hope to keep tied to those classrooms, parties, dates and weekends which meant so much to our beginnings and youth.

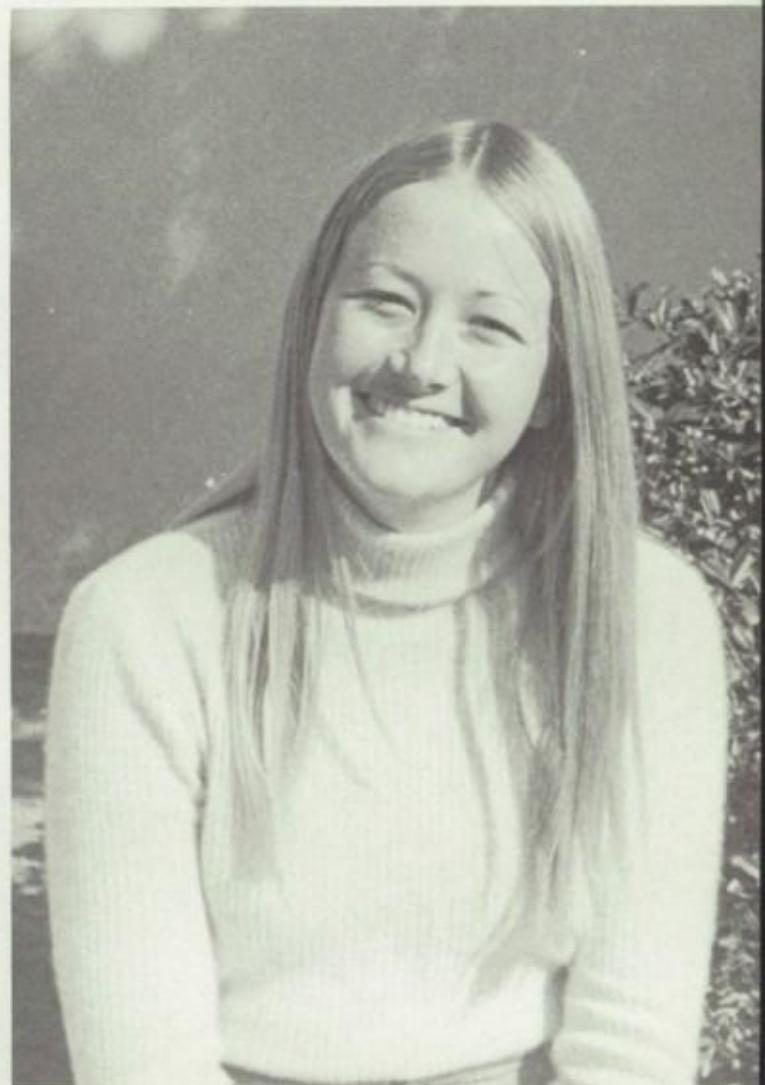

Scott -
So here I sit trying to think of something original to ~~say~~ say, without getting gooky. So, how about, I'm glad I met you, you turn me on. or something like that. Remember our German

Mehinia, etc. You don't get class like that anymore, too bad.
Sorry that we couldn't

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Newport Harbor had the privilege to host four foreign students this year. From Skolev, Denmark came Lotte Bork, staying with sr. Jennifer Hinsaw's family. Jill Ruffle is from Mackay, Australia, and is staying with the family of jr. Cathi Tucker. Clara Boardmen is staying with sr. Jill Shepard and her family. Of the four, those three are under the American Field Service, while the 4th, Karina Haum from Hamburg, West Germany, staying with the Beek family, is here through the Youth for Understanding Teenage program. Through these programs, foreign students come to America and live with a family for a year while attending high school. There are also several Harbor students who have gone overseas to other countries through Harbor's AFS program.

LOTTE BORK, DENMARK — "I think Newport Beach is just a wonderful place, and I have really enjoyed sailing and swimming a lot. From Denmark I was used to a strict, academic school, so the American school system with clubs, teams, and cheerleaders was just a great experience for me. I really had a lot of fun picking my own classes (just ask Mr. Hays!). I am SO GLAD I had the opportunity to come to California, and I have had a fantastic time."

JILL RUFFLE, AUSTRALIA — My year in America has far been a year full of new ideas, new experiences, and new places to see. Apart from driving on the wrong side of the road, light switches that switch on upside down, and taps that turn on in opposite directions, I have a lot of fun learning "American" English and living the American way of life. I will take back to Australia many American ideas, such as Halloween, Pumpkin pie, and Mexican food. In California, I found a lot of kindness, friendship and love; and I will never forget what a wonderful year you all made possible for me.

KARINA HAUM, GERMANY — America? What is that? The big unknown. Nine thousand kilometers away, dominant in world politics, filled with strange people who communicate in an odd language; known in Europe as tourists with big cameras, short pants (more than $\frac{1}{2}$ inch away from the bottom) in gaudy colors. That is about the way I thought five months ago. When I came, I was surprised. People were neither too different, nor did they match the average tourist. In fact, people were nice and I started liking the big "stranger" America. I found out that High School can be fun, but also that working, when you live directly at the beach, is an impossibility. People around here are great. Relaxed, tanned, driving around in nice Porsches, more of them than in Germany. I got used to the way of dressing and like it. People are more relaxed about fashion. They don't care in many cases. But why should they, Nowhere have I found life as safe as it is here.

CLARA BOARDMAN, BRAZIL — Before I came to the U.S., I had a view about the people and the country which changed in many ways. When you're outside, everything you know is from newspapers or from people. Now I know that people are the same everywhere, even with different languages and customs. The people I have met here have been really friendly to me. I'm glad I had the opportunity to live with the American people. Before I came, the people in Brazil told me I was lucky to come to California. Now I know what they meant. I am enjoying the weather and the informal atmosphere.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

Ever wonder who organizes all the school parties and functions for Harbor students? Student Government. The Freshman and Sophomore Governments sponsor dances through bake sales and car washes. Junior class government works all year to get the Junior-Senior Prom into final form. One of the main money raisers here is the annual Tars and Stars talent (or lack of talent) show, organized again by the Junior class. Senior class government organizes graduation preparations, Baccalaureate, and also choose a Senior class gift to present to the school.

The Executive Council is made up of presidents and secretaries of all four classes plus the ASB officers. This group represents all students and is in charge of the Chopathons, United Week, Spirit Week, and all the other special weeks and student functions during the school year. They also regulate all club and organization spending.

SENIORS

By your freshman year you've begun to know who your best friends are. Since your freshman year you've grown, changed, and (hopefully) become more mature. Many of your old friends have parted and gone their own ways, but there are some who have remained with you — these are the ones you will remember along with all those fun times you had together.

Getting up at 7:30 instead of 6:30 to do the homework you inevitably don't do anyway. Burning out of the parking lot instead of the bike racks. Those Sunday night phone calls when you and your friends tried to convince each other to start the English paper due Monday. The Class of '77 flag on the bell tower. Sneaking out of the house at midnight and getting back home just as your alarm goes off. Getting rowdy after football games, playing bumper tag afterwards, and ditching the cop. Water ballooning on the last day of school and not worrying about getting expelled. Finding that right hat for the senior picture. Getting the daily, "you'll be on your own soon" talk from your parents. Trying to wake up during the semester final to convince yourself it's only a bad dream. Spending all that time and money filling out 47 identical forms for 35 colleges and then going to OCC. Wading through the achievement tests the night after homecoming, with four hours sleep.

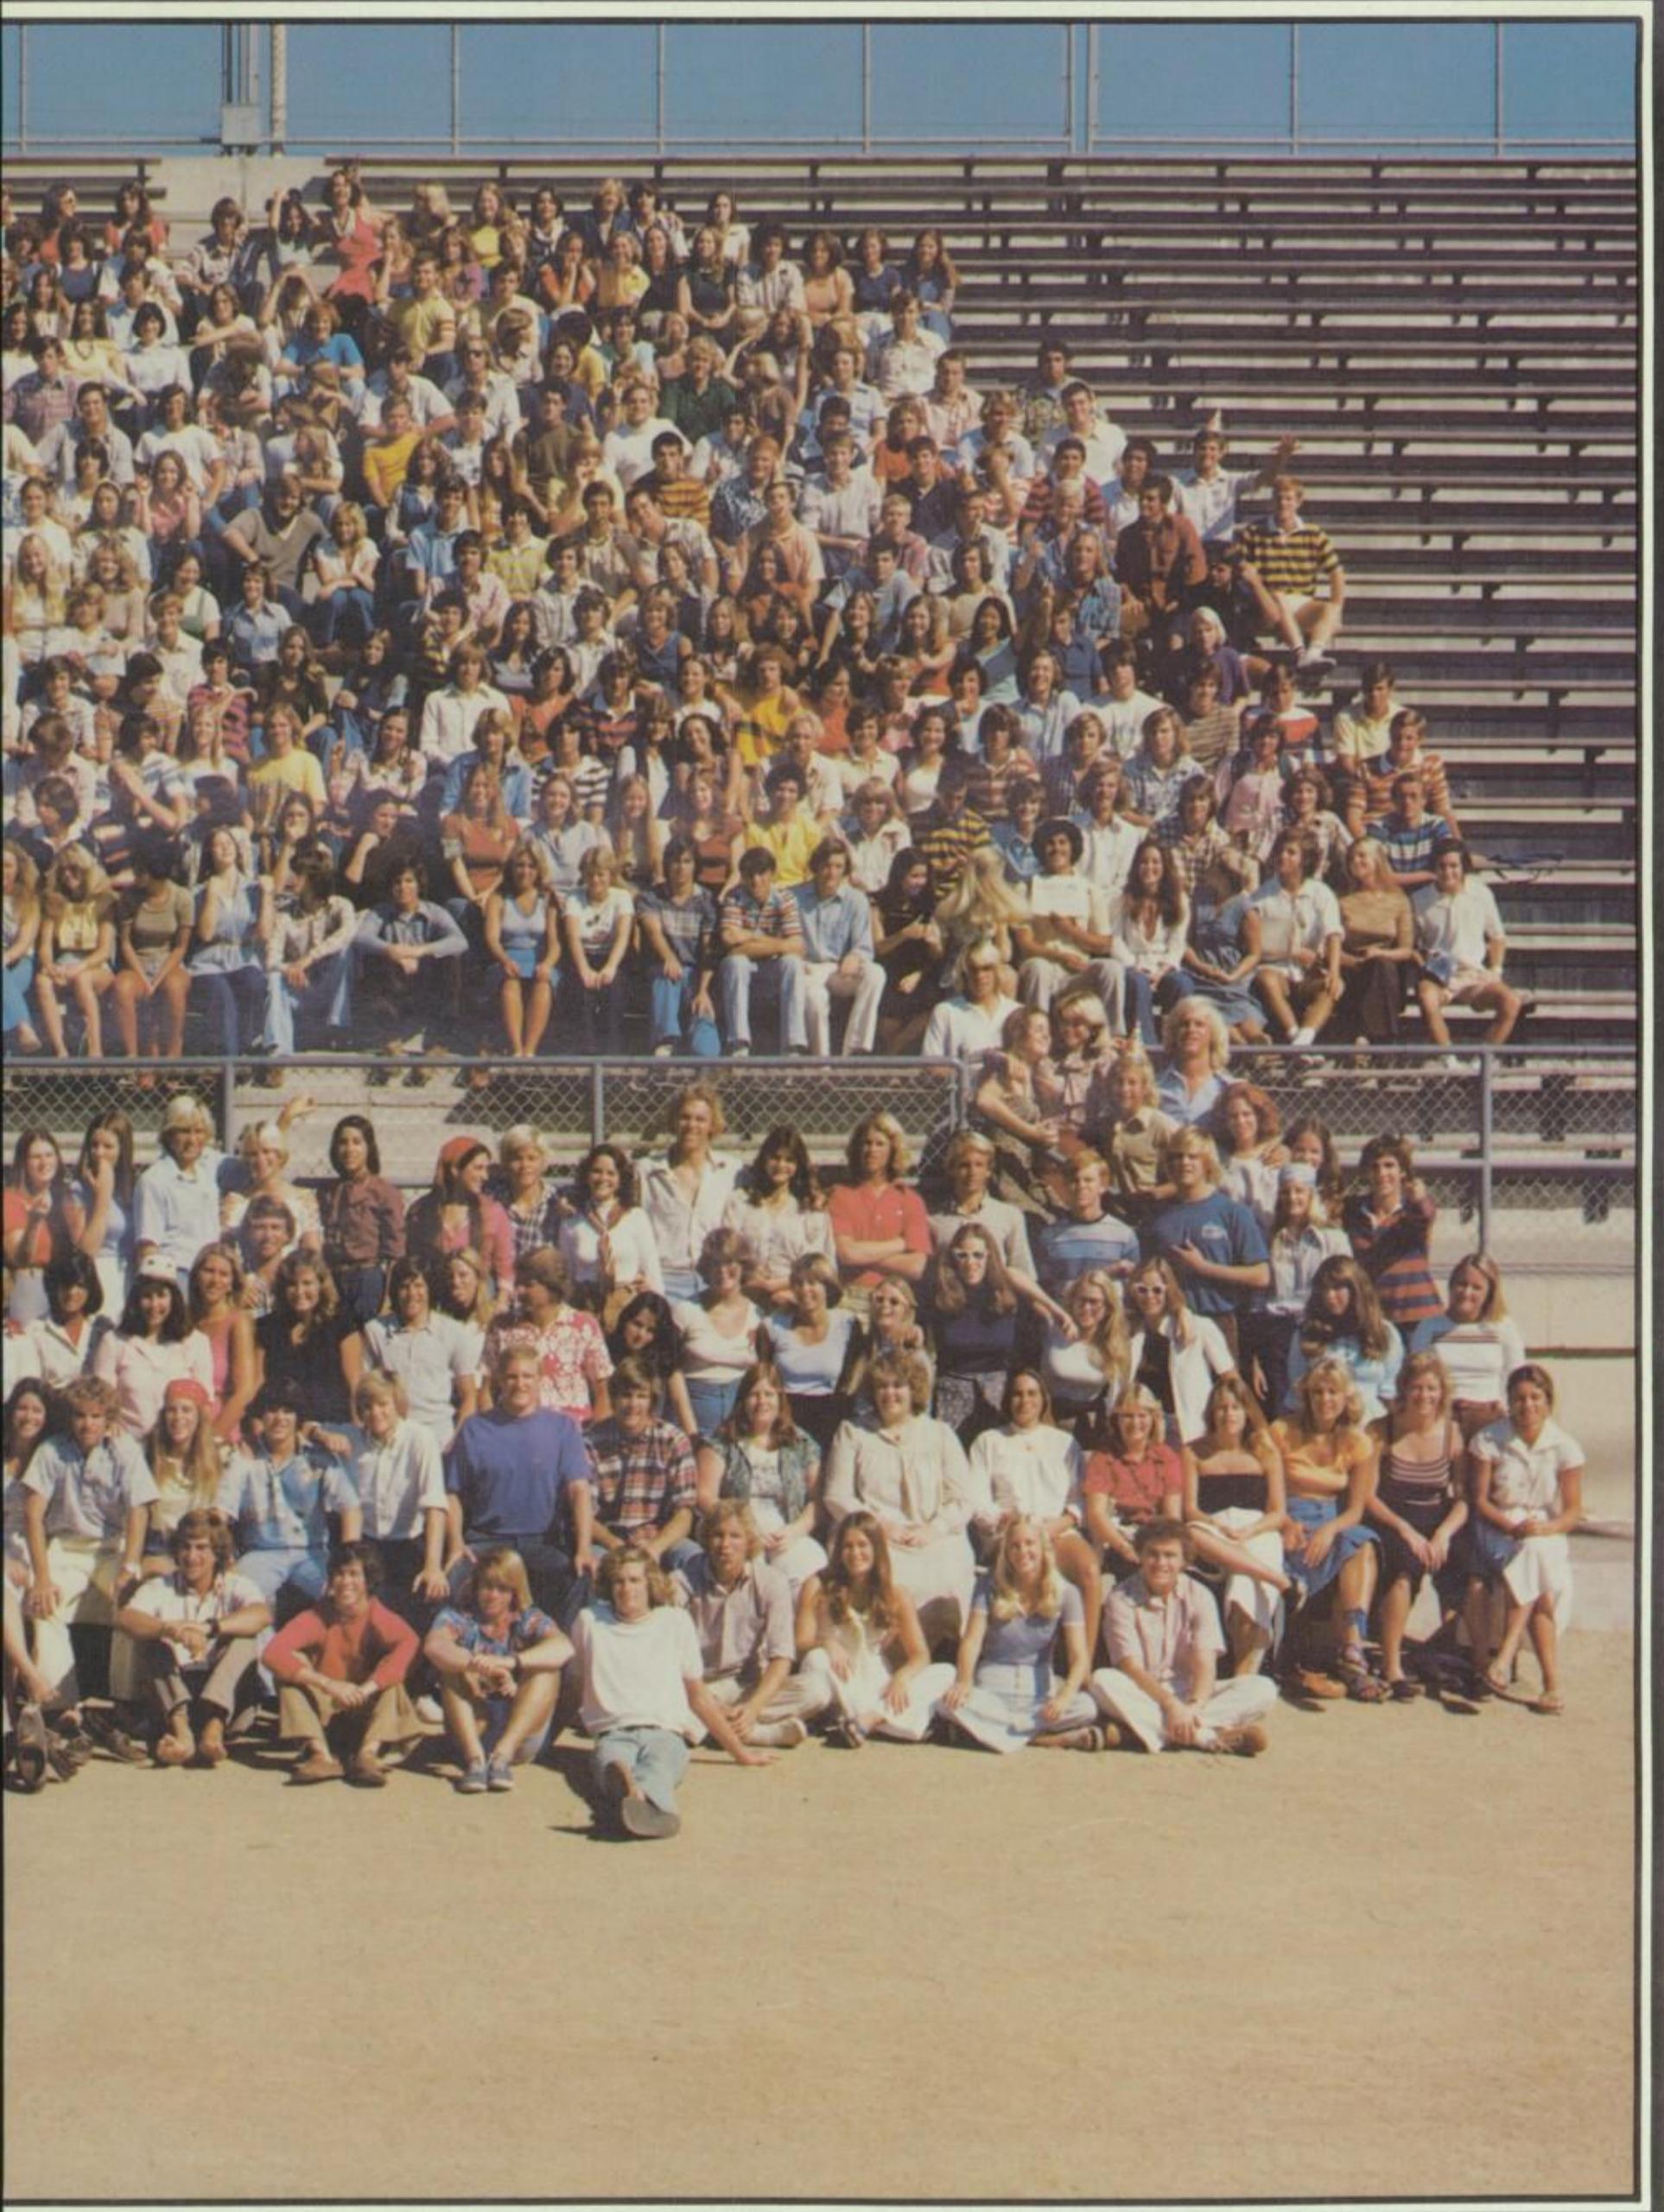

It is the knowing we are superior, that we have the system wired. No longer rushing frantically to class when the first bell rings, instead sauntering in between 8:10 and 8:15. Minimum day schedule. Sitting in the quad laughing at those who went to class 'cause you know it's a filmstrip. Getting the "going to the beach flu." Missing that test due to Chronic Recurring Senioritis. Coco's, Winchel's, Carl's Jr., Newp's, House of Pies, Del Taco, Jack in the Box, and Marie Calendar's during nutrition and lunch. Cutting fifth to watch "Ryan's Hope" and "All My Children." Losing that urgent call slip on your way NOT to see Vache. Selling tickets to the tower elevator instead of buying them. The Prom (bring your own champagne).

Under all the portraits have been printed, as their last words before leaving NH, the Senior's response to any or all of the following subjects: Birthplace, ambition, person you most admire, immediate future plans, Senior saying, most memorable moment and most valuable experience at Harbor.

1. Approach at your own risk: trespassers will be eaten. 2. Kristi Kirkpatrick shows off her effective serve. 3. Terry Sharp: "I don't think so." 4. Tom Mockett reviewing the situation.

JUNIORS

The class of '78. They have now passed midway in their high school careers; they are upperclassmen, practically seniors! No more are they the plebians, the lower class students; they even have driver's licenses! And, panic on the streets! Some have their own cars! But with all this newfound freedom and privileges comes responsibilities. They must sponsor the piece-de-resistance of NH social functions, the Junior-Senior prom. And to keep their pocket money for gas and other of life's essentials, they put on the annual Junior-Senior talent show, along with dances to finance the prom. But next year they get a free ride, and a new set of Juniors will slave for new set of stuck-up Seniors.

DANCING AT LUNCH

There is a soft click over the P.A. system at the end of 4th and students are outside before the bell finishes ringing, running to the speedlines or to their lockers. But there's music in the air. A band! A thick human wall forms around the musicians, even though their sound can be heard over most of the campus. Standing or sitting on benches, tables or the loading dock, the audience makes its evaluation of the first songs: lousy, "well they try but . . ." decent, or "I don't believe it, a good band!" If the band passes, a couple dozen brave souls step out of the crowd and begin to dance, slow or fast as the band goes through its routine. No matter how little applause they get they always "Thank you very much." But it always hurts to see them go, because that means you have to go to class, and you have no time to finish the lunch in your hand.

"How come it seems all the water polo and football players have lockers in downstairs Beek?"

"Sometimes I think that the school towels are supplied by the Raspo Sandpaper Co."

"There's nothing worse than a locker in upstairs Main."

"Ever go out with a college sophomore and then find out he's a highschool junior with his brother's class ring."

"Why is it that this year I'm a superior senior, but, next year I'll be a stupid, gullible freshman again? It just isn't fair."

"Why on earth would anyone take PORTUGUESE? Whose gonna go there?"

"Right first opportunity, left second opportunity, follow road, left at six mailboxes, count poles . . ."

"Mr. Giroux, the master of analogy!"

"Seniors always sit around during Period A laughing at the freshman, and then pick up the materials and leave five minutes before first period."

"It was a very good year."

"Ever try to advise friends on both sides of an argument? You can't win for losing."

"How are you suppose to fit your clothes in a gym locker so small it would be substandard housing for a field mouse?"

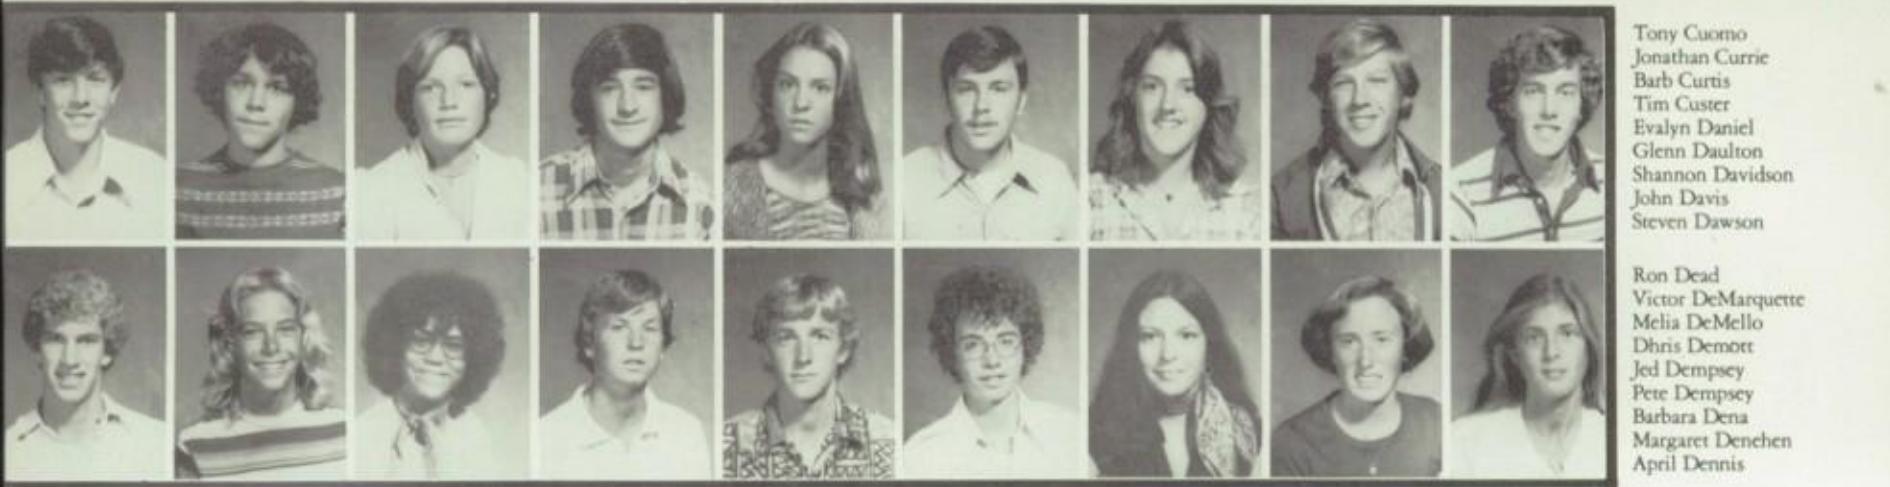

"That's as ridiculous as finding a parking place at the beginning of second!"

MOTORCROSS

Ground flies and two cycle engines snarl as Newport Harbor students don helmets and are transformed into weekend motorcyclists. Saddleback Park and Escape Country abound with such creatures as they race and cruise, cross it up or put it down. Blue-grey smoke, dust and shouts fill the air as these students give vent to the emotions caused by certain of their teachers, then forget for a few excellent hours the troubles and worries of school life.

SAILING

In their free time, Newport Harbor students regularly make use of the greatest recreation areas around and the harbor itself. Whether flying one hull alone in a Hobie 14 in the turning basin or outside in a Cal 25 for a party, sailing is one of the best things going for weekend escapes. Sunbathing in a drifter, planing in 30 knots, having water fights and flipping, all recall memories of carefree, lazy Saturdays with a friend and a boat, out on the water.

HALLOWEEN

2 Del Taco cups and 3 Groucho Marxs walk by, followed by a flasher and a Lady of the Evening being chased by a dirty old man. No, its not the fact that you have spent too much time at school, (though you probably have), its the day before Halloween, and NH students are warming up for one of the raisin'est times of the year. At lunch all the characters get up on the platform, near the quad, to be laughed at and judged, and after that a grand parade, including everyone from a demented tennis player to the big fig to the rest of the indescribable assortment of beings. All you can do is go out and find a good party. Fortunately, that isn't too hard.

SOPHOMORE

Those seasoned veterans amongst us who have survived the freshman year at Harbor have graduated into the sophomore class. They now are no longer in a lowly daze, they have been through the rigors of registration, the panic of the projects and the trauma of the term tests. They are amongst the worldly, the knowledgeable and what's more can almost see that driver's license shining brightly, with an inner light whenever they open their wallets. That all important certificate shows that indeed one is a "Man-of-all-Seasons." Yes, the sophomores can usually drive, legally that is (ahem!), by the end of the year, and scrap metal and car parts empires, gas corporations and tire factories have doubled their business by summer. But we all know that this is a gross exaggeration, everyone, that is except those who regularly pass thru the debris in the parking lot. Oh well, the sophomores cure for the common freshman, marches on.

Our civics teacher just tells us the same thing each day but different words.

Why is it that when I try to go upstairs the whole student body wants to go downstairs.

When it rains I take the bus so I don't get wet riding my bike. But then I have to stand in the rain for 10 min. waiting for the stupid thing.

Walking into Spanish and knowing all the answers like the palm of your hand. (Hmmmmm!)

MOPEDS

SUDDENLY Harbor has been bombarded with a new beast, bigger than gauchos, faster than a sidewalk surfer, able to pass ten speeds in a sudden instant, they are "Mopeds"! Yes mopeds, strange machines from another world which, disguised as bicycles at the first sign of a policeman, fight a never ending struggle against walking, car insurance, and the never ending consumption of gas.

As a freshman, never believe an upperclassman.

Before I come in late to class I grab the role sheet off the door and mark myself excused.

Some people say school's the leading cause of education, I am not so sure.

I hate climbing over the home arts building to get to my locker over the week-end.

Well my paper is due tomorrow, I think I better get started.

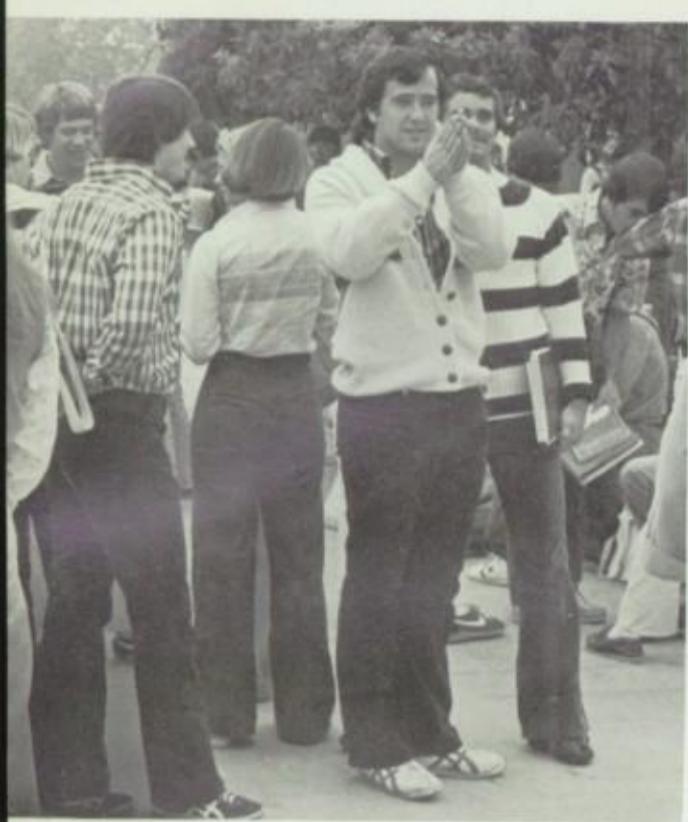

I love being a senior my schedule is home, home, ceramics, civics, home, home.

This space for rent
Call 548-592?

When am I going to learn not to put my bike in the compound when I am leaving early.

I agree with everything my parents tell me I just don't follow through too often.

There's nothing better than a good noon band, unfortunately, there's also nothing rarer than a GOOD band.

Break out the Heimy.

Parties, Byob, Byos, Byo anything

Giving a report to the class is ridiculous, you don't know what you're talking about and the class doesn't care.

Why do tennis players carry around their rackets all day long?

It's great to be tall, you get a good view of everything.

Okay! Who threw the Frisbee?

Everyone wants to go to the dance, but nobody wants to go with who they're going with.

Every book we read in English has a sad ending I can only take so much!

Friends are like an old pair of blue jeans, when you have a gap you patch it.

With the gossip in this school you find out what you've done with whom before you've done it!

Sure it's okay to dress up on Halloween, but you'd think they'd get embarrassed or something.

What happened to Bunya?

Randy, that's TOO much for your fathers test . . .

How can the cafeteria serve tacos and hamburgers everytime I am there.

How can I grow my hair long — when I keep getting split ends?

Legalize it don't criticize it!

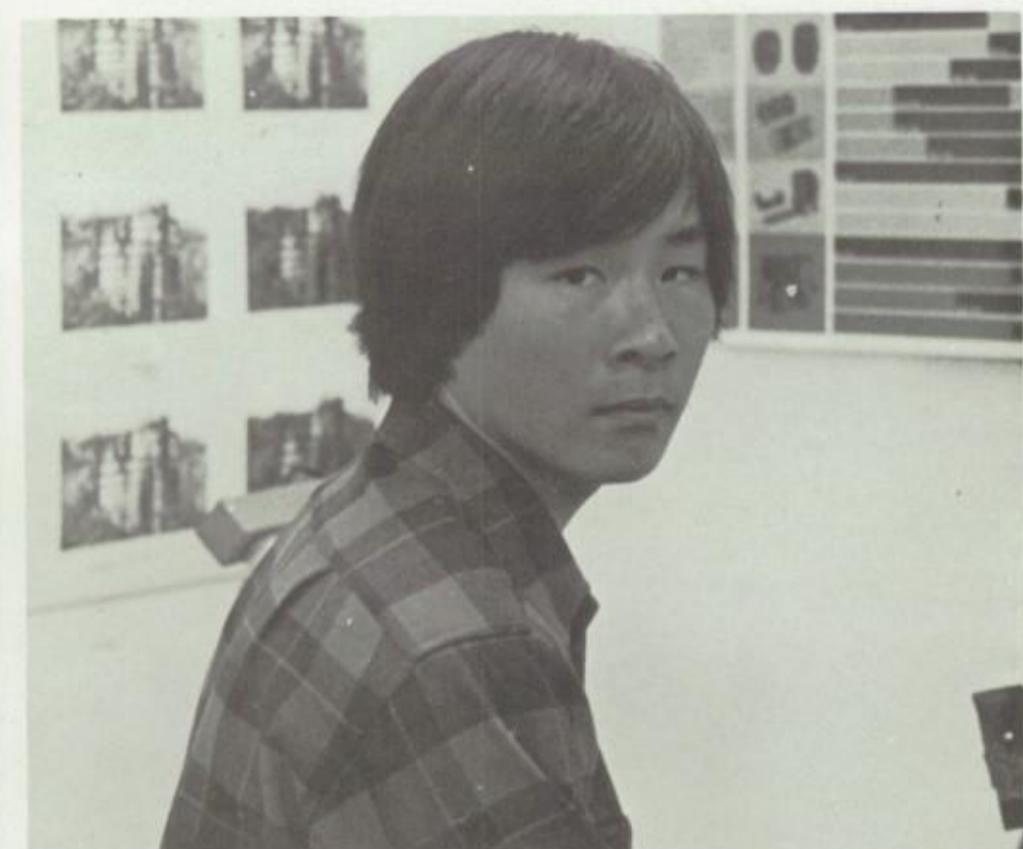

If cliques were outlawed, $\frac{3}{4}$ of the students would be lost.

I'm surprised they don't have a socializing class.
They do, it's 1st period, 2nd period, nutrition . . .

The world is closing in.
Power slides in the parking lot, excellent.
Raise on the man!
(What man?) Any man!!!

Some people join clubs and show up only the day they get their pictures taken.

My English teacher says we have 2-3 weeks to do each assignment, but he gives it out the Friday before it's due.

"Low man on the totem pole, gullible, foolish, bewildering, wide eyed and wet behind the ears." Lost in a hostile jungle of sneering upperclassmen. These are terms that apply to our NH Freshmen. (Yes! We were given our very own!) They keep in groups, hoping for safety in numbers from the derogatory comments only to find that a group is too easy to hit with a water balloon. They walk around in their striped T-shirts faithfully staying on campus during rallies and assemblies, totally ignorant to the "unofficial extended lunch" and upon hearing any bell they immediately head for class (if they can find it), life depends on making their class on time. Oh well, experience is the best teacher and wisdom comes with age. In a couple of years they will not believe how the freshmen act and look down on them with the same lack of compassion and pity with which this years upperclassmen snubbed our freshmen. (Don't worry guys, you'll make it!)

I can't remember my freshman year, the mind tends to forget painful experience.

A 350 word essay on traffic safety? Isn't that cruel and unusual punishment.

But where is Bohemia?

I just got the best present possible from English a complete set of Cliff notes.

Foods is ridiculous, if you don't know how to cook, you do lousy, if you know how to cook it's boring.

The day they fix the blinds in all the rooms is the day they have the next blue moon.

Before you can find a drinking fountain that works you could die of dehydration.

Why do the speedlines keep having only what I don't want and are out of my favorite.

Booze cruises in the bay, they're the best.

Everyone drives 50 down Riverside and I get a ticket for going 39.

I think they're catching on in the attendance office, this is the 10th unexcused I got this week and I promised to bring a note tomorrow from my mom for all of them!

Laziness is directly proportioned to what grade you're in.

What the teachers don't know can't hurt you.

Everything in biology smells of formaldehyde it's sickening.

The only days I show by 8:00 are inservice days.

Surfing . . . a good too many Harbor students spend much of their free time down at the beach bobbing around in our sporadic winter surf. You have only to peek at the attendance list the day following a March swell to realize just how many guys (as well as gals) have taken up this slippery sport. Aside from our surfing team a large number of students simply enjoy "dippin' their wick" at such spots as river jetties, capeline, and the infamous blackies. Surfing offers a unique physical involvement with nature and a freedom that the other organized sports at Harbor lack. Whatever reason or excuse students use, surfing and the apre surfing scene has gained an enthusiastic group of followers among the kids at our school!

BICYCLES

For the unfortunate many of us who have no car or even moped available, the only feasible means of transportation is the bicycle. Before school and at the 2:45 bell, hundreds of bikes swarm on campus creating traffic patterns that makes the LAPD stare in horror and disbelief. Ten speeds, five speeds, three speeds, and cruisers, there is enough pedal power "to run a city the size of Santa Monica for a day," or something like that. But don't be in too much of a rush to be rid of the problems because the next step up is the four wheeled, engined variety, and those are harder to dodge.

Equipped with nothing save sheer talent and more luck than you could believe, about two dozen grim and determined NH students set out at the beginning of this year to put together a yearbook. Led by seasoned veterans who often preferred to play pingpong to other miscellaneous activities, this crack team was hard at work for the first semester adding to their pop-top and gum wrapper chains and getting as much sun and sleep as they could. But suddenly they decided that they should strive before the metal froze, and made the resolution to give it their best effort. This they followed through with all the steadfastness of purpose of a mongoloid ground sloth. But there then came on the scene a character as likeable as Captain Ahab (complete with harpoon), who showed us the guiding light by threatening us with more physical and psycho-logical torture than we could bear: He would take away our stereo and allow no eating in class! We immediately put our shoulders to the wheel, and after many mangled shoulders, met our first deadline at 11:50 the night it was due. It was a monumental accomplishment, and was celebrated by the staff by closing our eyes, since we'd already fallen asleep with them open. (That was the week NO-DOZ stock jumped six points.) It soon became a favorite pastime to decide to finally start on the month of work for a deadline the night before it was due. Hurtin'-for-certain jokes and side orders from Del Taco saved the punchy contingent many times from certain completion of the assignment, and so an encore was held the next night to complete the task, to the total dismay of Nick the Greek. Fortunately he learned his lesson, and cancelled his 50,000:1 odds on the completion of this book, for if the reader will look at the healthy stack of pages in his left hand, he should realize that we did indeed finish this epic masterpiece. If he does not realize this, there's this bridge in Brooklyn I need to sell, and how would you like to be on next year's yearbook staff?

This year's yearbook is the product of the blood, sweat and beers of many hours of midnight (t)oil. We, the yearbook staff, retain for our efforts only the pride of seeing our book in print and the memories of the friends and classic moments in class and out, in studios, darkrooms, living rooms, and pizza parlors, gelled out of our minds.

work...the art of being serious.

Craig Silver, Carter

In Rememberance of Teresa Barrenechea —

Come to me in silence
out of the noise of noon.
Be the eye inside of me.
Help me drink the river up and swallow it,
or let me take the great mouthfuls
out of you,
stampeding you to bed
and then beyond,
beyond.

I do not expect that we will meet again
in the same way as before . . .
Accept the fact that we will grow perhaps in different ways.

Come to me in solitude pushing through the crowd
there are no others here to pry or make demands
If no one waits for you
but me,
I want in that same solitude that brings you here.

Come to me in silence
like the land-bound stone pushed and shoved.
and finally sailed
against, the gray indifferent shore.
Prophecies I have and I am not indifferent
only gray,
full of dark midwinter questions some that none could know or guess.

— Rod McKuen

I'm really glad I met you, and it's too bad you're getting out of prison this year. I really don't think I can stand 2 more years of this place. I wish you & Steph were together more, but that's life I guess. I really think you're a super neat person, & I hope I get to see you a lot this summer. Have a good one.

Dear Scott,

Imagine how excited I was to be the first person to sign your yearbook! But seriously, I love ya a lot; I really enjoyed knowing you. Homecoming was a total blast, & I had the best looking date there.

I wish you lots of luck in whatever you decide to do; come down to see me sometime this summer.
